PAUL BARKLEY

Foreword

It is not as a staff, separate and distinct from the rest of the school, but as classmates that we offer this, the nineteen hundred thirty-three volume of the McKinleyite to you, our fellow students, for approval. Let it be regarded as our book of memories, a record of our activities. May it be living bond between us and McKinley in the years to come.

McKINLEY'S TEACHING STAFF

HERETOFORE the annual has dealt mainly with extra-curricular activities. In this new section, therefore, we have attempted to present a picture of everyday school activities and to give some idea of the work necessary to complete a successful course. These pages reveal the duties of the faculty and the work involved in the various courses of study offered at McKinley. Under the old arrangement, but a limited number of teachers saw fit to insert their pictures in the annual. The section, therefore, was never truly representative of the teaching force at McKinley. This new plan has enabled us to picture the McKinley faculty as is and in toto. Accordingly, we present this new section, which introduces the McKinley faculty, without whose cooperation and guidance we could never have completed this successful year of 1933.

First Row—Miss Van Kirk, Miss C. Keller, Miss Krumlauf, Miss D. Bowman. Second Row—Mr. Benedict, Mr. Pottorf, Mr. Baker.

Administration and Library

At the head of the teachers who make up the faculty of McKinley High is the administrative department. Mr. J. L. G. Pottorf is the principal, and Mr. H. W. Benedict is the vice principal. Mr. Pottorf and Mr. Benedict cooperate with and lead both teachers and students in order to make McKinley a modern, progressive institution. Mr. Louis Baker heads the attendance department of the school and directs the checking of absence and tardiness. Miss D. Bowman is the librarian and supervises all library work. Miss C. Keller, Miss Krumlauf, and Miss Van Kirk are the office secretaries.

*First Row—Mr. Chenot, Mr. Leist, Mr. Robinson.

Commercial

Students who wish to prepare themselves for secretarial and business work take commercial subjects. The studies listed under this course include book-keeping, typing, commerce and industry, stenography, cost accounting, salesmanship, business English, and secretarial studies. These subjects equip future stenographers with a valuable knowledge of shorthand, typing, and other secretarial subjects which are necessary for the work in the business world. Mr. Barkley, Mr. Corner, Mr. Chenot, Mr. Leist, Mr. Deetz, Mr. Robinson, Mr. L. M. Smith, and Mr. Rickert teach commercial subjects.

Commercial

Some of the subjects offered in the commercial curriculum are full year courses which continue into a second year, but many are semester subjects. Business English and secretarial studies are examples of the latter type, while typing, stenography, business arithmetic, commerce and industry, and cost accounting are in the former group. In subjects such as shorthand and typing, the study is carried into a second year in which advanced work is done. Miss Darrow, Mr. Ford, Mr. Goodman, Mr. Gowdy, Mr. Lawrence, Miss Post, Miss L. Stonehill, Miss Westlake, Miss Roller, and Miss Dovey are also commercial teachers.

First Row—Miss Darrow, Miss Dovey, Miss L. Stonehill. Second Row—Mr. Lawrence, Miss Roller, Mr. Ford. Third Row—Miss Westlake, Miss Post. Fourth Row—Mr. Gowdy, Mr. Goodman.

Sophomore English

Sophomore English offers a variety of material in both grammar study and classic literature. During the first semester pupils study sentence construction and paragraphing. Correct punctuation with comma, semicolon, and quotation marks are given special attention. In the second semester Charles Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities", Scott's "Lady of the Lake", Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar", and George Eliot's "Silas Marner" are read and discussed in class. The instructors in sophomore English are Miss Davis, Miss H. Keller, Miss McBane, Miss Housley, Miss Hillibish, Miss Potter, Miss Domer, Miss Welshimer, and Miss Wilson.

First Row—Miss Domer, Miss Welshimer, Miss Housley. Second Row—Miss McBane, Miss Wilson, Miss Davis. Third Row—Miss Potter, Miss Hillibish.

Junior English

In the first semester pupils taking junior English devoted their efforts to the history of American literature and the lives of American authors. Emerson, Holmes, Whittier, Longfellow, Hawthorne, Poe, Irving, Thoreau, and Bryant are among the writers studied. In the second semester the students read poetry, short stories, essays, Washington's Farewell Address, and Webster's Bunker Hill Oration. All of these works are studied extensively in regard to form and type of subject, and pupils are encouraged to do creative writing in both prose and poetry. Miss E. Thompson, Miss Long, Miss T. Bowman, Miss Jones, and Miss Zininger teach junior English.

Senior English

The history of English literature and the lives of English writers are studied by senior English students. The works of a number of poets including Milton, Byron, Shelley, Tennyson, Wordsworth, and Burns are read. Journalism and debate are also classed in the English department. Students of journalism study the modern styles of publication writing and have the opportunity of contributing to the McKinley Times and the annual McKinleyite. Debate classes learn the principles of debate and public speaking and receive practice in the classroom and on the debate teams. Miss Eddy, Miss Haverstack, Miss Marble, Miss Mack, Miss Hobart, Miss Willett, and Miss Busby teach senior English.

First Row—Miss Haverstack, Miss Willett, Miss Busby. Second Row—Miss Eddy, Miss Marble. Third Row—Miss Hobart.

History

Two years of European history are offered to students interested in the study of events and progress in Europe from the earliest cave dwellers up to the present time. The first year of European history ends before the age of Louis XIV, and the second year begins with the study of this age and continues up to the present. English history and world history are also taught at McKinley, and all seniors must take American history and civics in order to graduate. Miss Marburger, Miss Lehmler, Miss Bair, Miss Fravel, Mr. Barnes, Miss Galbreath, Miss Hill, Miss Heidman, Mr. Koehler, Mr. Brooker, Miss McNary, and Miss B. Thompson are teachers in the history department.

First Row—Miss Hill, Mr. Koehler, Miss Heidman. Second Row—Miss Lehmler, Miss Galbreath, Miss Marburger. Third Row—Miss Fravel, Miss Bair, Miss B. Thompson. Fourth Row—Mr. Brooker, Miss McNary, Mr. Barnes.

Industrial

In the industrial, as well as the commercial, lines we must consider entire departments and complete courses, for they embrace many and varied subjects. Industrial subjects cover a variety of trades and are meant to give practical experience in definite lines of industry. These subjects are covered by technical and industrial arts courses. The technical curriculum is college preparatory; whereas the latter is a course complete in itself. A number of students were transferred from Lehman High, that they might avail themselves of McKinley's excellent industrial facilities. Mr. Garl, Mr. Littell, Mr. Malick, Mr. Moore, Mr. Pancake, Mr. Parker, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Bowles are teachers industrial subjects.

*First Row—Mr. Malick, Mr. Moore, Mr. Parker.

*First Row—Mr. Fry, Mr. Hyatt, Mr. Palmer.

Industrial

The more academic branches include mechanical drawing, mechanical drafting, architectural drawing, and shop mathematics. In the purely practical courses we find cabinet making, carpentry, electric shop, machine chop, pattern making and foundry, sheet metal shop, pattern drafting, and printing. School forms and supplementary pamphlets are turned out in the printing department. This department maintains an "A" club to promote interest in the subjects over and above curricular activities. The organization is known as the "Craftmanship" club. Teachers in the industrial department include Mr. Angove, Mr. Beyer, Mr. Fry, Mr. Henning, Mr. Hyatt, Mr. Mellon, Mr. Palmer, and Mr. Lyle.

First Row—Miss Motschman, Miss F. Schneider, Miss C. Schneider. Second Row—Miss Vogelgesang, Miss Zurcher. Third Row—Miss Bowser, Miss Schuster.

Modern Languages

Students interested in foreign languages have the opportunity of taking French, German, and Spanish. In all first year courses of these subjects, the grammar of the particular language is studied. In French and German, where four year courses are offered, after the pupil has a good grammar foundation he is advanced to the reading of famous classics. Among the works read by French students are Sans Famille, Jean Valjean, and Carmen. German students include the famous Immensee in their readings. Second year Spanish pupils study grammar and commercial correspondence. The modern language teachers are Miss Schuster, Miss Motschman, Miss C. Schneider, Miss F. Schneider, Miss Zurcher, Miss Vogelgesang, and Miss Bowser.

Latin

McKinley pupils who take first year Latin study grammar, and learn to translate Latin into English and English into Latin. Noun declensions, verb conjugations, and adjective and adverb comparisons are learned along with a vocabulary which makes a good foundation for advanced Latin study. Caesar's Gallic Wars and stories of Roman life are studied in second year Latin. In the third year Cicero's Orations are read and in the fourth year, Vergil's Aeneid. The scansion of Latin poetry is also studied in the fourth year. Miss Bock, Miss Coffman, Miss Erdman, Miss Hastings, Miss Lutz, Miss McConnell, Miss Shelton, and Miss E. Stonehill are Latin instructors.

First Row—Miss E. Stonehill, Miss Coffman, Miss Bock. Second Row—Miss McConnell, Miss Erdman. Third Row—Miss Hastings, Miss Lutz, Miss Shelton.

Mathematics

The subject of mathematics is included in all courses at some time. Plane and solid geometry and algebra must be studied by all pupils taking the classical course. Algebra IV and trigonometry are elective subjects. Algebra deals with the solving of problems where one or more quantities are unknown, and geometry takes up the study of plane and solid figures such as the cube, triangle, and parallelogram, while trigonometry deals with even more advanced mathematics. Shop mathematics and business arithmetic are also taught. Mr. Howser, Miss Broda, Mr. Jackman, Miss Shumaker, Miss Perry, Mr. Boone, Miss Rice, Miss Walton, Mr. Bartlett, and Mr. Weedman are instructors in mathematics.

First Row—Miss Broda, Miss Perry, Miss Shumaker. Second Row—Miss Rice, Miss Walton. Third Row—Mr. Weedman, Mr. Jackman, Mr. Howser. Fourth Row—Mr. Boone, Mr. Bartlett.

Arts

Music and art are elective subjects. The large chorus classes at McKinley sing in the music room and the art classes have special rooms provided where there are adjustable desks, brushes, and various art instruments. Classes in harmony are offered for pupils who wish to take advanced work in music. Both music and art departments work out a number of interesting projects during the school year. Domestic art involves the practical art of housekeeping and is taught to girls taking the course in domestic science. Miss Bozman, Mr. Hanson, Mr. Miller, Miss Mason, Miss Wenrick, Miss Ruff, Miss Sell, and Miss Ward are instructors in these subjects.

First Row—Miss Sharff, Miss Lynn. Second Row—Mr. Jackman, Mr. Wieck, Mr. Branin, Mr. Wright. Third Row—Mr. Carter, Mr. Young, Mr. Bixler. Fourth Row—Mr. Aiken, Mr. Peabody.

Physical Education

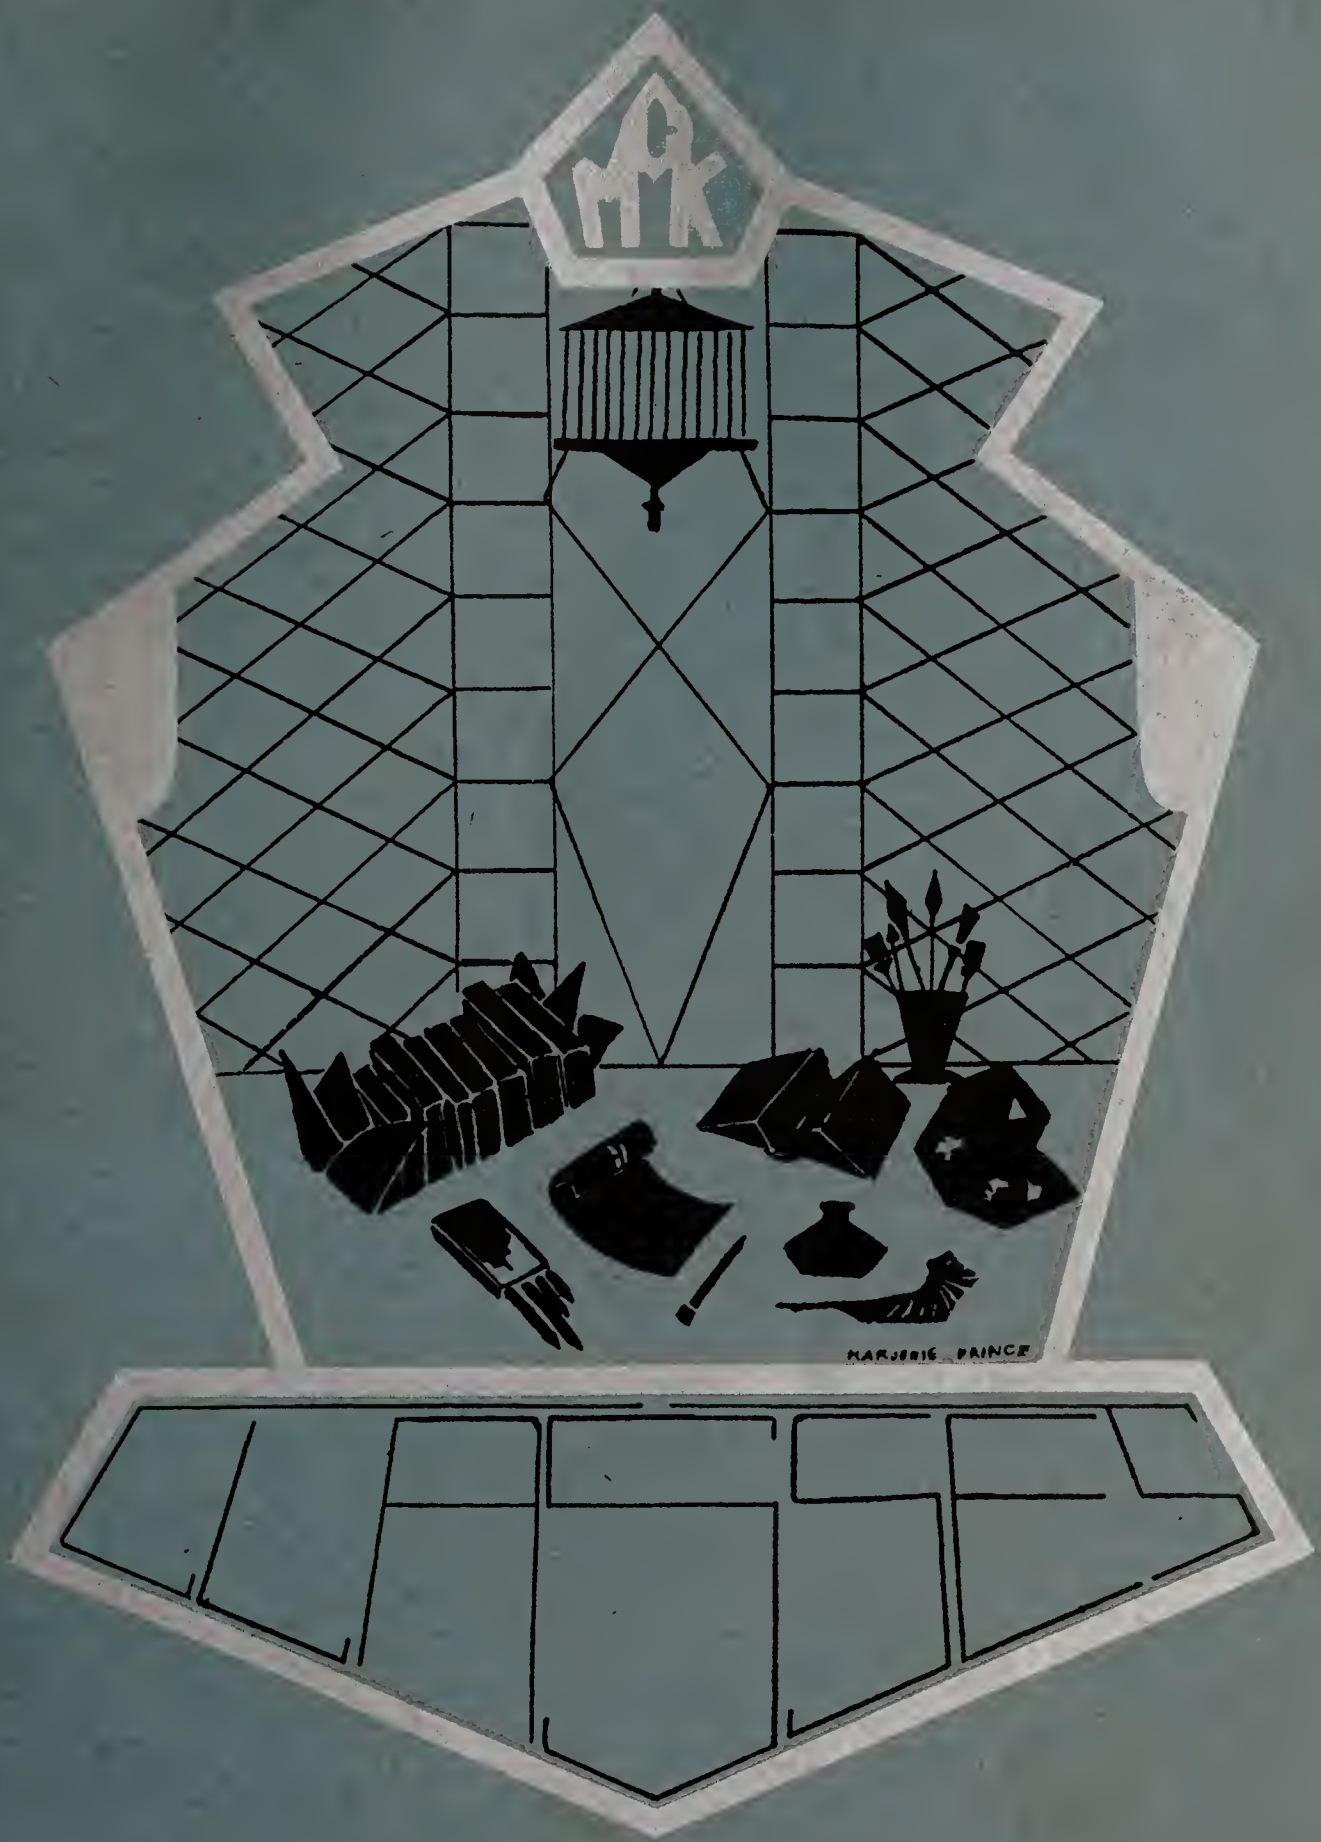

Gymnasium work for at least two years is required of every student at McKinley unless he is physically unfit. Apparatus work is done in both boys' and girls' gym classes. Pyramids and drills are formed and the classes work on the annual gymnasium exhibition. James Aiken heads the coaching force at McKinley. This force directs the activities in football, basketball, swimming, and track. The coaches cooperate with the students in organizing athletic teams. Mr. Branin, Mr. Wieck, Miss Sharff, Miss Lynn, Mr. Peabody, Mr. Wright, Mr. Young, Mr. Bixler, and Mr. Carter, along with Mr. Aiken, complete the physical education and coaching staff.

Science

There are a number of studies offered for students interested in science. Biology is the study of living plants and animals and their effect upon life as a whole. Chemistry is the science of the composition of substances and their transformation under various conditions. Physics takes up the study of various things that happen to inanimate matter. Laboratory work, in which pupils may make individual experiments, is a special feature of these courses. Mr. Swan, Mr. Booher, Miss Heinrichs, Mr. Porter, Mr. Metzger, Miss Clarke, Mr. Pratt, Mr. Riley, Mr. C. C. Smith, Mr. Fretz, and Mr. Lanning are science teachers.

First Row—Miss Clarke, Miss Heinrichs. Second Row—Mr. Booher, Mr. Riley, Mr. Swan. Third Row—Mr. Metzger, Mr. Fretz, Mr. Porter. Fourth Row—Mr. Lanning, Mr. Pratt, Mr. C. C. Smith.

SENIOR REVIEW

WE, as graduates of McKinley High school of the class of '33 have aimed to live up to the traditions and ideals established for us by former classes. The three years spent in this building went much too quickly and will be recalled by us as ones filled with pleasant and happy memories.

We came to McKinley, the largest sophomore class ever to enter and furnished plenty of material for the reserve football, basketball, and intramural squads. The social events were two parties, one in December and the other in May. Judging by the large attendance, they were great successes.

In our junior year, we presented "Adam and Eva" as the annual class play. It was given under the direction of Miss Grace Busby on March 17 and 18. There were two class parties, one on December 5, the other a St. Patrick's party.

The juniors earned many places on our athletic teams, both varsity and reserve. Twenty-four boys of our class were awarded varsity letters. A number of junior girls took part in the Army-Navy hockey game and in the Yale-Harvard basketball game.

Ours was the first class in McKinley history to have its members represented in Quill and Scroll, International Honor Society for High School Journalists, in their junior year.

Our senior year was probably the outstanding one in activities. The varsity athletic teams, composed mainly of our boys, established fine records. Nine boys received football awards, and six were presented with basketball letters. A highly successful swimming team found nine of its lettermen seniors. Girls were again represented in the Army-Navy and Yale-Harvard teams.

One hundred and nine of the class of '33 were chosen for the National Honor Society, 20 of them in their junior year.

The debate teams under the guidance of Miss Florence Willet as coach, did good work. Seniors composed the team in the main.

"Martha," a full fledged opera was presented by the Choral club on the evenings of February 3 and 4. Mr. Hanson and Miss Hill directed the production. "Minick" was presented as the class play on December 16 and 17. It was enthusiastically received.

Three class parties were held throughout the year; the first in November, the second in February, and the third in April. At the largest and loveliest social function of the year, the seniors were the guest of the juniors at a reception given at the Land O' Dance. Class Night and the class picnic were the final social affairs of the high school years.

We feel that our class guardians, with Mr. Barkey as chairman, were responsible for the success of the class of '33 during its years at McKinley. The guardians were Miss Bock, Miss Davis, Miss Fravel, Miss H. Keller, Miss Long, Mr. Parker, Miss Potter, Mr. Pratt, Miss F. Schneider, Miss Shelton, Miss Leah Stonehill, and Mr. S. P. Smith.

JUNIOR REVIEW

WITH more than 1,300 students in its ranks, the class of '34 has ended its second year at McKinley High school. It has entered whole heartedly into all class affairs, and has had a satisfactory year.

Early in the year, councilmen and alternates were chosen as representatives for the home rooms. In November the class elections were held with the following results. Jack Dunbar, president; Louise Ritzman, vice-president; Beatrice Keyes, secretary; and John Clasper, treasurer. The class guardians were; Mr. Swan, chairman; Mr. Angove, Mr. Baker, Mr. Bartlett, Miss T. Bowman, Miss Bozman, Miss Hill, Miss Mason, Miss Vogelgesang, and Miss Wilson.

The first junior party was a Christmas affair held on the afternoon of December 15. It took place in the music room. The second party of the year was held on the evening of February 15. This also was in the music room. Two plays, "The Chocolate Cream Pudding" and "The District School", were on the entertainment program. In the late spring the juniors feted the seniors at a reception.

The junior class was represented well in the field of athletics. Seven boys received varsity football letters, namely; Tom Bartel, Wilson Frye, Arthur Kovesci, Charles Russ, Irwin Shopbell, Maurice Swimmer, and Harold Wyandt. This year, contrary to tradition of previous years, Wilson Frye was chosen captain elect at a banquet after the close of the season. James Arntz, Frank Fautsko, John Lutsch, Paul Peterman, and Irwin Shopbell received basketball letters and George Figley, Harold Hirsch, Lawrence McGaughey, James Meyer, and Tom Shipley were awarded with swimming letters.

Girls were not lacking in their interest and enthusiasm in athletics. In November, the Army-Navy hockey game was played. Bernice Dieringer, Lucille Gang, Berchie Johnson, Beatrice Keyes, Esther Kienzle, Jean Klingstedt, Cesarie Miday, Genevieve Nyman, Louise Ritzman, and Madeline Stock were the junior participants. The Yale-Harvard basketball game in March had three juniors, Bernice Dieringer, Beatrice Keyes, and Jean Klingstedt, named in the team lineup.

In the school auditorium on the evenings of March 31 and April 1, the juniors staged "The House Beautiful" as the annual class play. The cast included; Elizabeth Blemker, Andrew Canterbury, Donna Cramer, Jack Dunbar, George Gerber, Russ Hammond, Betty Herbst, Genevieve Nyman, George Phelps, Louise Ritzman, Dorothy Steiner, and James Strauch. The success of the play was a creditable accomplishment for the class. Grace Burdge, Robert Clapper, Robert Cordray, Robert Dryden, Carolyn Fretz, Mary Jo Haynam, Ruth Lytle, George Purece, Daniel Ray, Nancy Riley, Roger Sandman, and Hilda Yellin were the understudies.

The junior class aimed in every possible way to do its bit in helping to improve McKinley High school, and the class of '34, with its long list of achievements, has lived up to former classes in the support it offered the school.

SOPHOMORE REVIEW

NOT in accordance with the usual custom of having the sophomores enter McKinley from the three junior highs in Canton, the entire sophomore class, with the exception of twenty-five or thirty, who were transferred from Lehman because of their courses, entered from Central and Lincoln junior high schools. The class of '35 was thus smaller than the previous sophomore class, though at the beginning of the year the enrollment for the class of '35 still numbered one thousand four hundred and sixty-eight.

After several weeks of bewilderment, the sophomores found themselves fairly well acquainted with the methods and customs of the school. In November the election of class officers was held with results as follows: Robert Daniels, president; Margaret Both, vice-president; Betty Mizer, secretary; and George Lloyd, treasurer. The guardians for the year were Mr. Riley, chairman; Miss Broda, Mr. Carter, Miss Erdman, Mr. Ford, Mr. Fry, Mr. Gowdy, Mr. Littell, Miss Marburger, Mr. Peabody, Miss Rice, Miss Clara Schneider, Mr. C. C. Smith, and Mr. Wright.

The fall days and the yearning for the gridiron found many sophomore boys out for football. Robert Daniels, Earl Haas, John Halter, James Huff, and Kenneth Wildman were presented with varsity letters. The nucleus of the reserve football team was the group of sophomore boys. Aside from football, sophomores were represented on the varsity basketball and swimming teams. James Huff was awarded his basketball letter, and William Youngen received a swimming letter. Sophomores, for the most part, composed the highly successful reserve basketball team. Intramural teams of the sophomore class were likewise successful.

The sophomore girls were represented on the class hockey, volleyball, basketball, swimming, and indoor teams. Tessie Bakter, Carolyn Rogers, and Lucille Yarger took part in the Army-Navy hockey game, while Irene Gertlinger and Josephine Jurkovic played in the Yale-Harvard basketball game.

With the election of councilmen, and alternates, the class was able to go ahead in its plans for the social function of the year. A party was held on the evening of January 7 in the school music room and a large crowd attended. It was entitled "Ye Sophomore Party". Two plays, "Not Quite a Goose," and "Paradise," were presented by members of the Sophomore Dramatic club under the direction of Miss Hill. There was music for those desiring to dance.

The sophomore class has been outstanding in its loyalty to the school in all its endeavors, giving its loyal support at all times, and upholding the honor of the school in every way. The class of '35 will next year be joined by the remaining sophomores who are now at Lehman. It is the duty of these sophomores now at McKinley to aid their new classmates who will be with them next year.

VARSIITY FOOTBALL

McKINLEY made a grand debut under its new coach, Jimmy Aiken, by winning six of nine scheduled games. The team ran up 161 points as against 79 for its opponents while making 118 first downs.

The season was featured by McKinley's 19—0 defeat of Massillon, the first such victory in four years. All home games were played in the new Lehman stadium.

McKINLEY 33—AKRON CENTRAL 0

McKinley's eleven, with new spirit and enthusiasm, opened the season with a bang at Lehman stadium, trouncing Akron Central 33—0.

Inexperienced as a team, the Bulldogs were slow in getting under way. However, late in the initial period, on the first sustained drive McCoy sliced off tackle for the opening tally. Ondrejas converted via placement.

The next score came midway in the second period. Lyle sprinted 45 yards unmolested with a long pass from Gift. Ondrejas again converted.

The third quarter saw Halter take Clark's punt and begin another drive which culminated in a score. Huff took a long pass and Shipley skirted end for the final touchdowns of the day.

McKINLEY 33—AKRON SOUTH 7

The team gloried in defeating a second Akron team 33—7 while coach Aiken mourned the death of his father.

South brought the first tally in the opening period when Neidert, flashy halfback, ran 90 yards to score. This roused McKinley to meet the occasion and the half score was 14—7 favoring the Red and Black. The tallies were counted by Swimmer and Kopache. Frye scored McKinley's third touchdown on a straight drive after the kick off.

The game then lagged until the final quarter when McKinley took to the air and completed two long passes. Kopache then drove on to make the score 27—7. Shipley scored the final after Lyle's advance on a pass.

McKINLEY 25—RAYEN 6

Amidst warm weather, the Bulldogs used their trick plays to advantage, upset the dope bucket and crushed the strong Rayen team 25—6.

Youngstown's lone touchdown came during the second period, Birkholtz making a long scoring pass. McKinley had opened the scoring when Frye crossed the goal with a Gift pass. Ondrejas converted.

After Rayen's score McKinley returned to a comfortable lead when Doll skirted left end for seven more points.

After a dull third period the Red and Black wore down the opposition and scored twice. Frye evaded several tacklers and raced 37 yards. Score, 19—6.

Gift later intercepted a pass and Shipley slipped through tackle for the final touchdown.

ALLIANCE 12—McKINLEY 7

Alliance proved the team to break McKinley's win streak by the slight margin of five points. An over-capacity crowd attended. McKinley was outweighed but not outclassed as was shown by their 10—9 advantage in first downs.

The Aviators tallied late in the opening period, Russell scoring after a series of line smashes. In the second quarter McKinley fought back desperately and made its only score. Doll counted after Frye and Kopache had smashed to the one yard line. A pass converted and McKinley led 7—6 at half time.

The winning touchdown followed the kick off in the second half, Russell again scoring from the six yard line.

Penalties subdued further McKinley threats, which had reached serious proportions.

McKINLEY 13—CLEVELAND HEIGHTS 0

The old fight showed up as our gridders came back to trounce the stubborn Heights team 13—0. McKinley's stout defense was much in evidence during this fray. The actual superiority may be seen in the 15 first downs to Heights' five.

In the initial quarter Ondrejas climaxed a sustained drive by scoring on a 20 yard pass from Doll. His place kick was called back and a pass failed.

The final score came during the second period. A beautiful pass, Doll to Huff, placed the ball in a scoring position. Shipley then knifed through tackle for the score.

The closing periods thrice saw McKinley within the 10, but unable to score.

EAST LIVERPOOL 13—McKINLEY 0

Though doubling Liverpool's first downs, the Bulldogs lost 13—0, on an off day. No score materialized until fourth quarter.

At this point Liverpool, on McKinley's 47, negotiated a pass to an unguarded sector of the Bulldog backfield. Pack received and scored easily.

McKinley rallied and carried the ball to the 11, first down. Kopache then carried it six more. A score seemed imminent but Kapp stole the sphere and raced goalward. Frye was within three yards of him when a spectator clipped the runner. A general argument ensued with the referees finally awarding a touchdown. McKinley began a bombardment of passes but was unsuccessful in its desperate attempt to score.

STEUBENVILLE 34—McKINLEY 0

For the third straight year McKinley fell in the wake of "Puck" Burgwin's speed and elusiveness, 34—0, although the Bulldogs appeared much the better team in the initial period.

McKinley's best chance appeared when Captain Lyle covered a Steubenville fumble on the five yard line. Attempts to score were in vain, however.

Burgwin scored four of the five touchdowns, in the second period one on a 59 yard run and another, racing 32 yards.

In the third quarter he sliced off tackle 16 yards again to cross the line.

They saved the fireworks for the finale with Burgwin scoring from his 29 and again shooting a bullet pass to Willoughby in the end zone.

McKINLEY 31—UNIVERSITY SCHOOL 7

Although outscored 7—6 at the half, McKinley slashed its way to an exciting finish and its fifth seasonal victory. 31—7,

The climax came midway in the third period when Huff grabbed a high pass from Bobby Doll and sprinted 25 yards across the line.

The first touchdown came in the second quarter, Kopache bucking the line. Cleveland's answer was three completed passes and a score to forge ahead.

As the final quarter opened, McKinley began a long drive and Shipley skirted end to score the winning tally. Later Ondrejas displayed some beautiful broken field running in scoring with a pass from Doll.

Shipley scored the final after intercepting a belated Cleveland pass.

McKINLEY 19—MASSILLON 0

A perfect finale climaxed a successful season as McKinley conquered its ancient rival, Massillon, by a score of 19—0. The game was played on a gridiron covered with mud and water.

The teams looked evenly matched throughout three quarters and then McKinley unleashed a furious attack to win decisively.

The Bulldogs' first score came in the opening minutes of play, Huff receiving a freak pass. The stands went wild.

The second and third quarters were listless no score materializing. But at the outset of the fourth period Frye slashed over the goal after a succession of line plays.

Shipley started the final march with a 25 yard advance. Kopache followed and Frye tallied.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL

PLAYING again under the direction of Coach Peabody, the basketball team this year fought brilliantly at home, and lost but one contest on the auditorium floor. All other defeats were encountered in road games and many of these by narrow margins. McKinley was not victorious in a single road contest. Unable to win two games in a weekend the team showed class one night, only to be humbled the next. The record stands at seven victories and 10 defeats. In spite of its mediocre showing the squad exhibited Bulldog aggressiveness in its spurts of victory.

The Bulldogs were victorious in one of four county engagements, losing two to Massillon and one to Alliance. Both the Alliance victory and first Massillon loss were decided by one point margins. Inability to score early in the game cost the Bulldogs more than one victory, after a sparking second half. This was especially true of the first round defeat by Minerva in the sectional tournament. They scored but four points in the first half, then to lose by one point, 21—20. This marks the second consecutive year which has seen McKinley without representation in the state tournament at Columbus. Many combinations were tried throughout the season with varying degrees of success.

The team rolled up 459 points to 522 for the opposition, with an average score of 27 points per game. This figure is but .7 of a point under last year's record. On the other side of the ledger we find the opposition scoring 30.7 points per game, 5.3 more than the previous season. Thus the weakness was in defense, not offense.

Sherm Lyle, captain and center, was high scorer, followed in order by Kovesci, Banks, and Moatz. Of the squad of 12, six juniors and one sophomore will be eligible to play next year. This group plus the splendid reserve material should mark a revival of basketball fortunes.

In the opening game with Cleveland Collinwood, inability to check two star forwards resulted in a defeat, 34—24. McKinley redeemed itself, however, by edging the Cleveland South quintet, 22—20. The Bulldogs held an appreciable lead from the outset. They played brilliantly the following week, and defeated Cleveland West Tech in the city auditorium, 29—26, counting 13 points in a fourth quarter rally. The Bulldogs next withstood a like bombardment by Akron East, and chalked up their third consecutive victory, 33—30. The following night their good fortune left them; and they were edged by Akron Central, 23—22, after holding a first half advantage.

On Friday, the thirteenth of January, Alliance inflicted McKinley's first county defeat, 33—24. Massillon handed them their second in an exciting overtime period, 35—34 on the following weekend. Tired from their encounter with the Tigers and their long trip downstate, McKinley was overwhelmed by Springfield, 34—16. A rejuvenated machine outclassed Pittsburgh Peabody, 30—22, the second team playing the entire game.

Cleveland Heights handed Canton its sixth trimming in an afternoon game, 35—30 in spite of the Bulldogs' second half rally. The team travelled to East Liverpool a week later to absorb its seventh defeat in a rough, close encounter, 29—27.

McKinley's most thrilling victory was that over its county rival, Alliance, in a hard-fought battle. Banks meshed a basket in the final 30 seconds to win, 33—32. Two decisive defeats however, followed in short order, one by Dover, the present state champions, 45—12, the other by Massillon, 59—30.

The remaining games were easily taken by McKinley, both by decisive scores on the home floor. Dayton Steele fell to the tune of 42—21; and Akron South, 31—23. The Steele game is an excellent example of the complete reversal of form which many times overtook the team in consecutive games.

CHEERLEADERS

NOT all success in athletics is due to team work, or to coaching. Indeed, cheering, under the guidance of trained leaders, deserves much credit for success in athletics. The cheerleaders tried to the best of their ability to incite enthusiasm among the fans. They feel that cheering spurred the teams to victory more than once.

All the home games found the six cheerleaders present. At many of the out-of-town games they also made special attempts to be present. When a cheerleader attends a road game, it is an effort, for transportation is not provided.

An innovation this year was the appointment of the senior and junior leaders, thus allowing them to lead cheers at the opening game. Ordinarily two games pass before the election of leaders. The sophomore cheerleaders were chosen by their classmates, as in former years.

The senior boys chosen were George Weidman and Wayne Gerber; the juniors Hugh Correll, and Howard Satow. By popular election George Lloyd and Charles Stands were made the sophomore cheerleaders.

George Weidman was awarded his letter with the football men; and Wayne Gerber received his following the basketball season.

The leaders did their part not only at the games at Lehman stadium and city auditorium, but also at rallies of all sorts in the school auditorium. They put forth their best efforts in arousing excitement and school spirit.

First Row—Daniels, Dragomir, Kanam, Haas, Fernandez. Second Row—Mr. Carter, Ferrara, Ressler, Crewse, Fisher, Schneeberger.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

RESERVE basketball flourished this year under coach Ellis Carter, setting an enviable record of victories.

The team won 13 of 14 scheduled games and scored 482 points to 297 for the opposition. The 13 wins were consecutive, following their opening game loss to Collinwood 28—22.

Without a doubt this lone defeat can be attributed to inexperience, for the team had but a week's practice previous to the combat. In the second game they whipped Cleveland South reserves 23—14, to start the string of victories. A second Cleveland team, West Tech, fell before the Pups 38—19 the following week. McKinley held the upper hand during the entire game. From this point, both the competition and the reserves themselves improved steadily. They won most games by wide margins, now and then encountering a stronger opponent. The Pups defeated Akron East 27—10, Alliance 28—17, Massillon 35—28, and Canton Actual 55—11. They reached their height of power in winning over Cleveland Heights 53—32, East Liverpool 36—26, Alliance 28—20, Dover 34—21, Massillon 35—28, St. John's 38—23, and Akron South 32—20.

In 11 years the reserves have played 158 games, winning 145 and losing 13. These figures show the high quality of the teams in years gone by, and the equally high standing of the 1933 representation.

There was not much experimenting in lineups after the opening games; and the combination of Halter and Kanam, forwards, Ressler, center, and Haas and Dragomir, guards went the route in most games.

Varsity Swimming

MCKINLEY'S aquatic performers claimed the attention of all north-eastern Ohio fans by winning six of seven dual meets, and capturing the district championship.

They accomplished an unprecedented feat in taking the district title without earning a first place. They scored 26 points, all in seconds, thirds, and fourths.

In the state meet they suffered their worst defeat, bowing to Cleveland Heights, whom they had beaten earlier in the season, and placing eighth.

The team opened its season by trouncing Akron East in the Y pool, 47—28, and taking firsts in six events. Next they handed Cleveland East Tech a defeat 45—30, taking five firsts and four seconds.

Cleveland Heights, two year state champions, next fell 38—37. This meet was won by virtue of second and third places. The first road contest was with Wooster, who fell by a score of 38—33. The McKinleyites hung up their fifth consecutive victory at Akron, crushing East High a second time, 45—30. They again captured six firsts.

On the next day the swimmers met their first defeat, at the hands of Cleveland Lakewood, 36—35. This proved a truly interesting and exciting contest. The next meet in Cleveland was more successful however and McKinley trounced University School, 38—33.

Hitting their greatest stride, the swimmers were never in danger in the last two meets, taking Wooster again, 57—18, and Dayton Steele, 44—27.

Portofe, Harding, Sponhour, Thuran.

VARSIITY GOLF

GOLF, always a popular sport at McKinley, this year will find a full schedule. Three home-and-home series are scheduled, with Alliance, April 26 and May 3, with Wooster April 29 and May 19, and with Salem May 5 and May 15. In addition the district meet has again been awarded to McKinley. It is hoped that McKinley will be well represented at the state meet at Columbus, May 20.

The team will play all home matches at Tam O' Shanter golf club. The prospective members have been practicing here for several weeks in order to be up to true form at the time of the opening of the official season, April 26. The team won its first match from Alliance, 8-7 on the final holes.

Last year's squad did quite well during the season and in the state play-off at Columbus. Here they were defeated in an excellent field of teams by a squad from that city.

For several successive years Mr. Carter has had the charge of the golf team along with several intramural and reserve sports. He has spent much time and patience in coaching these squads, and each year has turned out championship teams of some sort. A great deal of credit is due him, and it is hoped that his golf team this year will uphold his fine record as an athletic instructor.

VARSITY TENNIS

THE tennis team this year is unfortunate in having but one letterman returning to the squad. The others were lost by graduation and conflicting athletic programs. Charles Gibbs, who played with the team last spring but did not receive a letter, and several others who were outstanding in intramural tennis the previous season will likely fill the positions, along with others who will be picked by a process of elimination. A team of seven will be made up of Bill Holzworth, captain, and six others likely composed of this group: Gibbs, McFarland, Miller, Ransom, Colvin, and Lyke.

Four matches have been arranged for this season with one date open. On April 26 we met Salem here, on April 28, Alliance here. May 3 is open. May 5, Alliance at Alliance. On May 13 the district meet is to be played off here at Canton as has been customary for several years. On May 17 we meet Salem again at Salem, and May 20, the State meet at Columbus. The squad got off to a flying start, trouncing Salem and Alliance in short order, both by decisive 6-0 scores.

Last year the team fared well in the district tournament, three men having survived to participate in the state finals. Two of these, Nist and Oberlin, dropped out in the first round. Holzworth continued up to the semi-finals where he was beaten by the state champion, Niehousen of Cuyahoga Falls.

Varsity Track

LIMITED facilities this year forced curtailment of varsity track activities. When Lehman field was converted into a football gridiron last fall, the excellent track was removed. This spring Nimisilla park and Cook field were made the scene of track and field practices. The city recreation board cooperated in providing accommodations.

It was not possible to hold meets at home; and this forced the removal to Salem of the annual triangular event, formerly held at Lehman field, in which Salem, Akron Central, and McKinley regularly participated.

When the season began, there were but three lettermen on the squad. They were Ralph Shipley, 440 and relay man, Leo Wood, 100 and 220 yard flash, and Maurice Swimmer, a junior who specializes in the 220. In addition there was a small number who had not won letters but had some varsity experience.

In the opening meet of the season, McKinley, with 41 points, trailed Salem, but finished ahead of Alliance, the team which took Akron Central's place. The tentative schedule plans entrance in the annual Salem night relays, April 29, and a dual meet with Mansfield, May 6. The district meet will be held in Youngstown, May 13, and the state meet at Columbus, May 20.

The squad again will be strong in dashes and relays, and pitifully weak in the field. Ward E. Young, as in former years, had charge of track and field activities.

ARMY-NAVY GAME

THE annual Army-Navy hockey contest is one of the outstanding events in the girls schedule and brings to a climax the hockey season.

Army emerged victorious by a score of 2—1 in their yearly struggle at our new Lehman stadium, November 10.

The game was played before an enthusiastic crowd of fans while the Booster Girls led cheers. Although the players were handicapped by a muddy field, both teams provided stiff competition.

In the first half neither team accomplished much except to dribble up and down the field. Although both teams threatened the opposing goal many times, their efforts were of no avail.

Following the half, Army showed more drive and succeeded in making the first goal. Later Navy took the ball from their opponents and sent it over Army's line for a score. By so doing they threw the game into a tie which seemed destined to last.

Shortly after the fourth quarter began, Army went down the field to score the final point of the game, and eked out a victory by the narrow margin of one point.

Miss Sharff, who has charge of hockey, chose the squads from the varsity and intramural teams. The squads this year appeared much more evenly matched than those of last year.

The captain of the victorious Army team was Helen Straub, while Beatrice Keyes led the Navy girls.

YALE-HARVARD GAME

THE Yale-Harvard basketball game, ending in a 34—28 victory for Harvard, was the climax of the basketball season for girls. The two teams are selected by Miss Lynn; and it is the goal of every girl playing basketball to be on one of these teams.

The game this year was held several weeks later than in former years. It was played on March 24. A large group of enthusiastic fans was in the music room, cheering for both teams.

The contest was hard fought every minute of the way. Harvard opened the scoring, and remained in the lead throughout the game. At the end of the first quarter the Red and White had an 11—7 advantage. The margin was increased to 18—12 at half.

During the third quarter Harvard continued its march to victory, and at the end of this period had 29 points to Yale's 16. Yale staged a comeback in the final quarter; but the gun sounded and the rally fell six points short.

Dorothy Riegler was the captain of the Harvard team. Her team-mates included Elizabeth Bakter, Bernice Dieringer, Irene Gertlinger, Margie Houser, Beatrice Keyes, Anna Sekely, Doris Schrecongost, Olwen Thomas, and Oma Wiant. Suzanne Rohn captained Yale's team. The other players were: Nova Finefrock, Josephine Jurkovic, Jean Klingstedt, Betty McKibben, Bertha Mumma, Barbara Shaffer, Florence Smith, Helen Straub, and Fransway Thomas.

SENIOR GIRLS' HOCKEY

SENIOR girls this year failed to uphold the noble tradition of champion senior teams and bowed to the lower classmen in the annual hockey series. Their final record was one victory over the sophomores and a defeat by the juniors. Bad weather and the lateness of organization combined to cut the season to two games, one with each of the other classes.

Despite the fact that there was a wealth of individual talent represented, the senior season was anything but successful. The juniors this year put a team on the field which was easily able to overcome them.

The first encounter of the season was that with the juniors, the lower classmen emerging victorious to the tune of 2—0. The seniors threatened on several occasions, both before and after the opening tally, but were unable to push the ball across for a score.

They next met and defeated the sophomores by the slim score of 1—0, in the final game of the short season. The score came early in the game, and the seniors were able to hold the advantage throughout.

Miss Sharff issued the annual call for players and many enthusiastic girls responded. The teams representing each class were then chosen from these candidates. The "A" and "B" distinction was not made this year. Instead the large squads were divided into teams of equal rank.

First Row—Kienzle, Keyes, Dieringer, Klingstedt, Nyman, Ritzman, Berger. Second Row—Gang, Rastetter, Hunyadi, Shaheen, Shea, Stock, Meyer. Third Row—Zerbe, Baehrens, Warner.

JUNIOR GIRLS' HOCKEY

JUNIOR girls this year had an excellent team, and show the best record of the three competing classes. They defeated the seniors and earned a tie with the sophomores. The members of the team were awarded class numerals.

It is not often that a lower class is able to break through and take the championship from a more experienced senior team; but the juniors accomplished the feat this season. It will be remembered that this year's junior team is the same that last year twice battled the champion seniors to a deadlock.

Facing their stiffest competition at the beginning, the juniors showed that they were not to bow to experience. Twice they scored and ultimately defeated the seniors, 2—0. The half time saw no score, but immediately thereafter, the juniors pushed the ball across for the opening tally. Then, taking advantage of the situation, they marched down the field for another and completed the rout.

The succeeding game was a surprise to all and the juniors met their match in the sophomores. The juniors scored first, in the opening period and maintained their lead for some time. Just before the final whistle, the sophomores secured the ball and saw it safely across the junior goal line.

With one year of competition remaining, the outlook of the juniors is exceedingly bright.

IN spite of the fact that the sophomores trailed the league during the hockey season this year, they had the somewhat negative satisfaction of tying the champion juniors in the final game. The first contest they lost by the narrow margin of one point.

It is rarely that sophomore teams even so much as imagine finishing high in standing, lacking experience as they do. So in view of this fact, the tie with the juniors looms large in the light of comparison.

The opening game, that with the seniors, was played in chilly weather, but nevertheless saw much action. The sophomores tasted defeat in their debut by a score of 1—0. The upper classmen tallied in the first half and proceeded to hold their slight advantage throughout the contest. The Sophomores found the senior defense impenetrable; and therein lies the story of their defeat.

The succeeding game proved the high mark of the sophomores power and the only blot on the junior girls' record. They met the champions and matched their every move.

At the outset of the contest the juniors scored their point, but failed to weaken the spirits of the lower classmen. This became apparent a few moments before the whistle. At that point the sophomores obtained the ball, and ran it through for the point that tied the score.

SENIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL

THE girls intramural basketball championship was won by the seniors. The senior girls won all of their ten games. In doing so they established a great superiority over the juniors and sophomores. The senior "A" team won six games and the senior "B" team won four games.

In their contests, the senior "A" team played both the junior and sophomore "A" teams three different times. They easily conquered the juniors, once by a score of 16—7, second by a score of 25—11, and the third time the seniors piled up a score of 17—7.

The senior "B" team was equally as successful. They also came through the season with a clean slate. Their first game with the junior "B" team ended with a score of 14—6, the second game ended 22—2, and the third game 14—2. In their one and only game with the sophomores they came through again victorious, the score totaling 18—0.

The senior girls who played on the "A" team and who were responsible for this highly successful season were: Straub, captain; Smith, Shaeffer, Riegler, O. Thomas, F. Thomas, Bakter, McKibben, Rohn, Mumma, and Finefrock.

The senior girls who composed the "B" team and who were equally as successful were: Wiant, captain; Jackson, Sekeley, Esmont, Hardy, Kell, Foltz, Shaw, Taylor, Baughman, and Morin.

ALTHOUGH both of the junior teams put up fine exhibitions, they were unable to capture the intramural basketball championship from the seniors. Miss Lynn this year chose two teams from the junior girls who answered the call for tryouts. The junior "A" team won three of six games and the "B" team won one of three games.

The junior "A" team easily surpassed the sophomores in every game. They were victorious with scores of 20—16, 25—17, and 8—5. However when the juniors met the seniors the competition was too much for them and as a result they lost every game with scores of 25—11, 16—7, and 17—7 respectively.

The "B" team's season was even less successful than that of the "A" team since they won only one of three games. The "B" team won its game with the sophomores by a score of 14—4 but lost both games with the seniors 22—2, and 14—6.

From the senior, junior and sophomore girls who played in intramural games, Miss Lynn chose the best players, who then competed for places on the Yale and Harvard basketball teams.

The "A" team girls who were chosen were; Riley, Klingstedt, Kettler, Schrecongost, Keyes, Dieringer, Kaufman, Zerbe, Richards, Gang, Bennett, and Kienzle. The "B" team girls were; Stock, Shea, Inboden, Owesney, Owen, Lackey, Christie, Miday, Kosht, and Williams.

SENIOR GIRLS' SWIMMING

SENIOR girls who came out for swimming this year put forth their greatest efforts in the annual intramural swimming contest and were victorious for the third consecutive year. The sport is increasing in popularity year by year.

This season, as last, there was only one main event in this activity; and that was the intramural meet held March 27. Although the seniors were given keen competition by the juniors and sophomores team, they succeeded in winning by a great margin, the score totaling 37 points. The senior team as a whole took first place in diving. There were seven events in all and by placing first in the relay; first in the crawl; first in the side-over for form; first in the back stroke for speed; first in the side over for speed and second and third places in diving, thus, making five first places and one second and third, the seniors were easily able to acquire their big lead in points.

Throughout the entire meet, the juniors struggled valiantly for more first places but they were repeatedly downed by their upper classmen.

The performance of this senior team showed clever coaching on the part of Miss Sharff. The senior girls who took active part in the meet were: Jeanne Firestone, Bernice Fleury, Barbara Shaeffer, Bertha Mumma and Carloyn Cochran.

EARNING 29 points, the junior girls placed second in the intramural swimming meet this year. Although the junior team developed a fine crop of material, it was not quite able to outdo the strong senior team which had several years of former experience.

The juniors succeeded in capturing but two first places out of the seven aquatic events, those were: first in the side-under for form and first in the breast stroke for speed. Then beside these two firsts, Keyes placed first and Hahn fourth in the diving. They took second place in the five remaining events namely: the relay, the crawl, the side-over for form, the back stroke for speed and the side-over for speed. Although it was a heavy up-hill battle for the juniors, they put forth a good fight and never gave up.

Like the seniors, the junior girls showed expert training on the part of their coach, Miss Sharff. Great things are being expected of these girls after another year of training, and they are expected to uphold the good record of this year's winning team.

The junior girls who took an active part in the events of the meet were: Beatrice Keyes, Marie Zerbe, Minnie Bohrer, Betty Hahn, and Betty Jane Bennett.

DUE to lack of experience, along with a great amount of keen competition by both the juniors and seniors, the sophomores finished an unsuccessful season in swimming. Although they were outclassed in every event, the determination which they displayed will carry them far in the two years which are ahead of them.

The sophomore team obtained a total score of 9 points. They placed last in the relay, the side-under for form, the breast stroke for speed, the crawl for speed, the side-over for form, the back stroke for speed, and the diving event. Even though they did not place in any of the events the entire team displayed splendid sportsmanship.

Swimming, supposedly a major sport, does not rank quite so high as basketball and hockey in the girls athletic world at McKinley High school, but each year it is gaining in popularity. Now it is becoming more and more one of the leading events in intramural sports. The rivalry between classes is becoming keener and keener.

Although the boys were banned from the swimming meet they had a large audience of girls. The sophomore girls who took an active part in the events of the meet were: Helen Beatty, Esther Hinderer, and Norma Faust.

First Row—F. Thomas, O. Thomas, Scribner, Herley, Vail, Taylor. Second Row—Staudt, Houser, McCue, Jackson, Ebert, Shaeffer, Morin. Third Row—Hughmanic, Geltz, McKibben, Hardy, Emerman, Riegler.

SENIOR GIRLS' TENNIS

THIS is the fifth year since tennis was added to the list of girls' athletics at McKinley High school. It is still taking the place of girls' track and until better track facilities are obtained, this intramural sport will continue. It is evident that this sport is enjoyable to the girls due to the number of enthusiastic ones that always turn out at the instructor's call for try outs each year.

The matches are arranged by one of the gym instructors, and the single sets are played in the outdoor courts of the school during study halls. The finals and semi-finals are played at Nimisilla park after school and the courts are reserved for this purpose. The winners of the single sets are matched and in this way are eliminated to the quarter, semi-finals, and finals. Many McKinley High school students witness these games; and it is every one's wish that they will continue in the coming years.

The senior girls who took an active part in these intramural games were: Fransway Thomas, Olwen Thomas, Dorothy Scribner, Miriam Herley, Phyllis Vail, Margaret Taylor, Marjorie Staudt, Margie Houser, Ruth McCue, Gladys Jackson, Sonya Ebert, Barbara Schaeffer, Mary Ann Morin, Grace Hughmanic, Margaret Geltz, Betty McKibben, Winifred Hardy, Sybil Emerman, and Dorothy Reigler.

TENNIS has been absorbing much of the time and interest of the junior girls during the last few months of the school year. This sport offers another type of diversion for girls who are athletically inclined. Although it requires a great deal of hard work, the girls meet it with untiring interest; and that is the reason it has proved itself to be one of the principal girls' sports in such a short period of time.

The matches in regular tournament schedule are arranged by Miss Lynn. Each girl who has signed up is scheduled to play some other girl in her class. The winner of this match plays the winner of another match, and so on in a like manner until by elimination only eight players remain. These eight enter into the quarter finals. The four winners go then to the semi-finals and, lastly, the remaining two to the finals, and consequently the winner of this match becomes the class champion. Keen interest is always shown throughout the tournament and the matches, especially at the time of the finals.

This year's tennis team had to compete with golf and baseball for the girls' favor, but there was no slackening of interest shown on the part of any of the girls. A great number of junior girls came forth this year in response to Miss Lynn's call.

SENIOR BOYS' VOLLEYBALL

AS in almost all preceding years, the seniors came out on top in the annual volleyball competition. They showed a high percentage and finished with a comfortable lead over their opponents.

Losing but two games in each set, they won a total of 16 games during the season. It is evident that two years' experience in the game has faithfully rewarded the seniors.

The type of ball displayed by the seniors was quite different from that of the other classes. They had four well organized and nicely balanced teams that coordinated consistently. Each player knew his particular job, and thereafter successfully tended to it.

The senior teams consisted of boys who had played volleyball in their sophomore and junior years, or who had equivalent knowledge and experience in the game.

Those boys who best showed their ability and who were regular in attendance were rewarded with intramural emblems, indicative of championship in that sport. Those who showed themselves worthy of the honor included the following: Philip Angelo, Elwin Becker, Charles Bolea, Jack Coffey, Ray Davis, Kermit Harding, William Holzworth, Ralph Immel, Frank Jacobs, Ray Keefer, Raymond Knauss, Ray Martin, Howard McFarlane, Louis Minkin, Harold Reukauf, Ernest Roos, Ralph Tinkler, Max Triger, George Wesp, and Edward White.

This year's schedule showed 20 games with the lower classes. The 20 contests were divided into two rounds of competition.

MAKING the poorest showing of the three classes in the volleyball league this year, the juniors trailed both their opponents. They won but five of their 20 scheduled games.

This marks the second year which has seen them in the league cellar, for last year, as sophomores, they placed below the present champions and scored but one point. This year's titlists in turn bowed to their upper classmen during the last season. The present juniors are in much the same position as their predecessors two years ago.

The final standing this year read as follows: Seniors won 15 and lost five, sophomores successful in six and defeated in 14, juniors won five, and dropped 15. From this it may be seen that the seniors were the only ones on the right side of the ledger.

Opening the season, the juniors dropped eight of 10 in the first round and, as it afterwards developed, eliminated themselves from the beginning. The second round saw a slight improvement as they picked up one more to score three wins and seven losses, but theirs was a lost cause by then.

Most teams by their junior year are able to clinch second place, so this year's team must work that much more to overcome their seeming hoodoo if they are to overpower the up and coming sophomores in the annual struggle next fall.

SENIOR BOYS' BASKETBALL

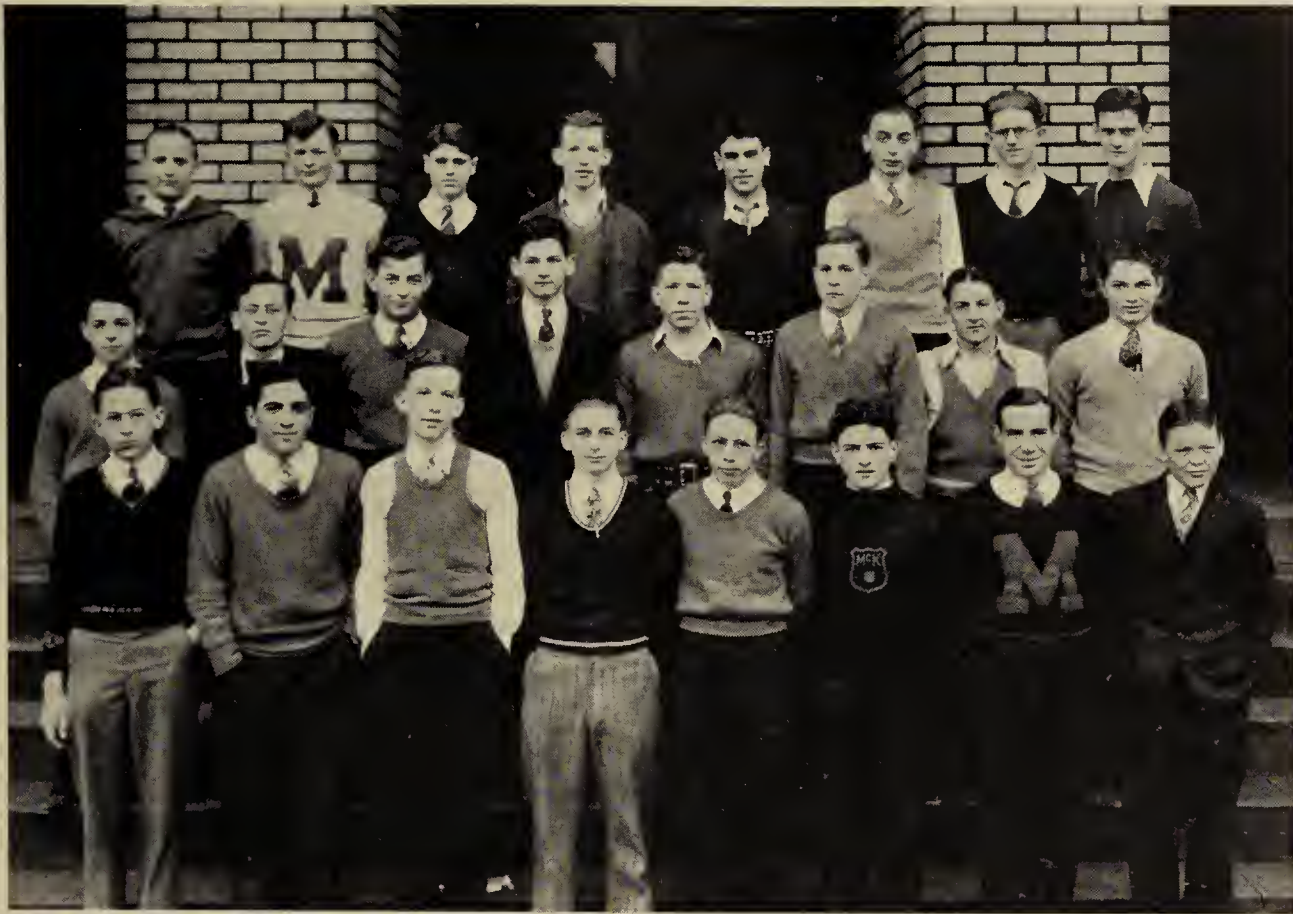

SENIORS this year placed second in the intramural basketball series with a percentage of 538. The class was represented by four teams, The Stoops, Panthers, Whippets, and Pros. These teams won 16 games and lost an equal number. In the first round the seniors captured seven out of twelve games, winning most of them from the sophomores. In the second, their average dropped, and they lost 11 of 20. Here they likewise lost the majority of games to juniors, the league champions.

Two teams in the senior group stepped forward with high averages. They were the Pros and the Stoops, the former with a perfect record of eight and a percentage of 1000. The Stoops brought down a percentage of 800, winning 6 and losing 2. The other two teams, the Panthers and Whippets did not fare so well, each losing seven of eight encounters.

This year marked the turning point in the basketball streak of the seniors. They had not been defeated in seven consecutive seasons.

A tournament brought the season to a close. The Whippets and Panthers were both dropped in the first round. The Pros continued into the quarter finals, but were stopped there. The Stoops forced their way into the semi-finals but fell before a sophomore combination.

The competition afforded the seniors was decidedly strong this year and the task of defending their reputation was indeed a difficult one.

First Row—Erlanger, Abdulla, H. Satow, Gardner, Ellis, Armogida, Russ, Thomas. Second Row—Vaprin, Jacob, Brown, Bartos, Kinney, Puncheon, May, Wollock. Third Row—Wyandt, Frye, Summers, H. Satow, Jurkovic, Johnson, Salewsky, Daberko.

JUNIOR BOYS' BASKETBALL

AN established precedent was broken this year by the junior boys as they took over the intramural basketball season from the seniors. The general average of the four teams was 594, with 19 wins and 13 losses.

In the first round which consisted of six sets of four games each the juniors played 16 games, capturing 11 of them for a good lead. In the second round their good fortune lagged a bit as they won eight of twenty games. But the consistency of individual wins kept the class in the lead.

The representing teams were Indians, Lemon Squeezers, One Stars, and Bulldogs. The Indians won seven of eight games, the Lemon Squeezers five, the One Stars three, and the Bulldogs four. Their averages were 875, 625, 375, and 500 respectively.

In the tournament the Bulldogs were defeated in the first round. The One Stars and Lemon Squeezers each picked byes for the first and in the second the Lemon Squeezers survived along with the Indians. The Lemon Squeezers proceeded to the semi-finals where they were stopped.

The outstanding players on the three best teams were awarded emblems. They were Gardner, Puncheon, McFarland, Karam, Ellis, Armogida, Wallock, May, Bartos, Thomas, A. Abdulla, Brown, H. Satow, W. Jurkovic, and C. Russ.

With this fine record, the juniors have a good chance of repeating as champions next year.

AS has been customary for several years, the sophomores finished third in the basketball series. The four teams won thirteen games and lost nineteen to score a total percentage of 406.

In the first round the sophs played 20 games, winning 7 and losing 13. They defeated four junior teams and three seniors. In the second round their average was a little better. They captured seven victories out of twelve games. Of the five games lost, four were to senior teams.

The squads were as follows: Ramblers, Wildcats, Trojans, and Buckeyes. The Ramblers won 4 and lost 4, Wildcats won 3 and lost 5, Trojans won 5 and lost 3, and the Buckeyes won 1 and lost 7. Their individual percentages ranged from 625 to 125.

Although the sophomores as a whole did rather poorly during the season, two of their teams finished first and second in the final tournament, an unusual happening. In the first round both the Wildcats and the Buckeyes were dropped. But the Trojans and the Ramblers continued into the quarter finals and semi-finals. Here they were pitted against each other. In a close, hard fought match, the Trojans were defeated by a score of 29 to 23.

Coach Charles Wright was in charge of the playing and was assisted by Howard Summers as student manager. All games were played in the boy's gym in the school.

First Row—Tinkler, Crossen, Sanford, Ondo, Uebelhart, Zika. Second Row—Vacy, Ricker, Wyman, Soldatis. Third Row—Pieper, Stone.

SENIOR BOYS' SWIMMING

ONCE more the seniors carried away the honors in the intramural swimming meet, making it the fourth consecutive year in that order.

The upper classmen narrowly won the contest, scoring 41 points. The juniors followed with 39; and the sophomores ran a poor third, credited with 18 points. The seniors scored three firsts, while the juniors and sophomores busied themselves winning three and two, respectively.

The seniors hopped off to an impressive start, scoring 24 points in the three opening events. Stone in the 40 yard free style and Crossen in diving accounted for the two individual firsts.

The 160 yard relay team gave the seniors their third winning place. Blazkovitch, Hinder, Ondo, and Pieper made up this group.

Although many meets are won on the merits of the first places gained, seconds prove the margin of victory in as many more. Playing safe, the seniors busied themselves and took five of eight second places to secure their position.

Pieper finished second in the 40 yard free style to net the seniors a total of eight points in that event. Sanford did likewise in diving, for eight more. Ricker and Stone earned seconds in the 100 yard breast and free styles, respectively. Thus Stone brought his total to eight. He was high point man on the senior squad.

The 180 yard medley relay team scored three in the closing event.

First Row—Bohrer, Szabo, Figley, Swope, Smith, Hinderer, Blazekovich. Second Row—Hirsch, Meyer, Cash, Lyke, Gibbs, Holsing. Third Row—Shipley, Frye, McGaughey, Evans, Jamieson, Ash.

JUNIOR BOYS' SWIMMING

RUNNING a close second to the champions, the juniors this year gave ample warning of their future championship intentions in intramural swimming. They ended a mere two points behind the seniors, after cutting deeply into the seniors 14 point advantage in the first three events.

They scored 39 points while bringing in three firsts, three seconds, and four third places. One of the firsts was taken by the 180 yard medley relay team.

The juniors waged a bitter battle with the seniors for dominance of the meet; and experience proved the factor which finally decided the champion. They matched the seniors in firsts, but fell down on the second places.

In defeat the juniors may point with pride to their medley relay team which swam to first place against the powerful senior team. This is a three man event; and the members of the winning group were McGaughey, Gibbs, and Smith.

Myers and Vacy took firsts in the 220 yard free style and 100 yard breast strokes, respectively. In so doing, Vacy equalled the school record with a time of 1:22.

Hirsch took second in the 220, and Lyke the same in the 100 yard breast stroke. Frye, Swope, and Bohrer placed third in other events.

Several members of the junior squad made the varsity. They are Vacy, Hirsch, Myers, Gibbs, Bohrer, and Figley. Next year they will carry on as regulars.

NOT as successful in their swimming ventures as in volleyball, the sophomores trailed the other two classes in the intramural swimming meet with a score of 18 points. They scored two firsts, a third, and two fourths.

As a team the sophomores seemed to be able to gain little ground. They had one outstanding performer, however, in Bolander. He took both the first places for the sophomores, and thus became high point man for the meet.

He was decidedly varsity material, but was ineligible for the team until second semester, due to his absence from school during the preceding term. Bolander's two winning places were in the 100 yard free style and 100 yard backstroke events.

The sophomores failed to take a single second place in the meet. Their 180 yard medley relay team succeeded in taking third place for four points, bowing to two powerful upper class teams. Born earned a like place in the 220 yard free style.

In judging the results, the observer must consider the competition which the sophomores faced in their one day stand. They had little or no experience in the type of swimming exhibited at McKinley; and their showing may be balanced by their fighting attitude and gameness.

The method of scoring in individual events was five, three, two and one points for the four places. Relays netted two to each winning swimmer, one to each second.

First Row—Beck, McCuskey, Shipley, Booth, Hardman, Kraus, Shaub, Second Row—Baker, Wesp, Wyman, Soldatis, Becker, Holmes. Third Row—Doll, Harding, Holzworth, Reukauf, Kinnison, Huber.

SENIOR BOYS' TRACK

SENIORS romped to their usual easy victory in the annual intramural track meet with 46 points. The meet was held this year at Nimisilla park and Cook field, Lehman field having been refinished for football. They captured firsts in six events, seconds in four, and thirds in a like number. The juniors customarily followed, with 27 points, and the sophomores trailed with 8. The teams have finished in this order since time in memorial.

Nine events were included in the program: the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, mile run, shot put, broad jump, high jump, discus, 440 yard run, and 880 yard run.

The seniors were dominant in the distance runs and the field events. In the mile all three places were taken by seniors, Kraus finishing first, Booth and Baker second and third. Shipley easily took the 440 in 54.8. Kraus took over the half mile, followed by Kimball, also a senior. In the field events, Riley surpassed all in the shot put. In the broad jump McCuskey and Wesp captured first and second. In the high jump Reukauf, Huber, and McCuskey took first, second and third. Lyle and Hexamer finished second and third in a poor field of discus throwers. Shipley captured a third in the 220 yard dash.

The seniors took an early lead in the meet, but midway were serious threatened when Wood and Swimmer, fleet juniors, and Huff, elongated negro sophomore, completely outclassed them in the dashes.

First Row—Peterman, Gardner, Ellis, Vaprin, Armogida, Russ, Casciani. Second Row—Frye Swimmer, Abdulla, Downer, Kinser, Lee. Third Row—H. Satow, W. Garris, Gibbs, Cash, Smith, Wyandt.

JUNIOR BOYS' TRACK

JUNIOR boys finished a fairly good second in the intramural track meet, scoring 27 points against the seniors' 46. Inclement weather cut short the first day's program in the meet, and the schedule for the following day was postponed for the same reason. All the remaining events were then cramped into one day on which the juniors tried in vain to capture a victory.

The outstanding work of the juniors was in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, both won by lettermen, Wood and Swimmer. Wood paced the 100 with a speed of 10.4, followed by Huff, a sophomore, and Swimmer, a junior. Swimmer captured the 220 in 23.4, followed by Wood and Shipley. In the shot put Shaub and Abdulla took second and third. Wood and VanAresdale tied for third in the broad jump. Their final record was two firsts, four seconds and four thirds, and a tie for third.

Spring football practice kept some probably trackmen from participating in the intramural meet.

From the junior group, no doubt, there will be a good representation on the varsity track team. Those who are good prospects are Wood, Swimmer, Abdulla, VanAresdale, Baker, and Decker. Mr. Young, varsity coach, had charge of the meet and was assisted by Mr. Carter.

First Row—Tinkler, Baker, Pirolozzi, Novick, Souers. Second Row—Harding, Dickerson, Peterson, Stonebrook, Young.

SENIOR BOYS' GOLF

INTRAMURAL golf, an important factor in determining the quality of varsity teams, this year continued as a leading spring sport at McKinley. The season opened May 2, at Tam O' Shanter golf club. Prospective members of the team practiced many weeks on its fairways and in the rough. The awarding of the district meet again to McKinley helped to stimulate interest in golf.

Approximately 42 boys turned out to play in the tournament. The method of selection for class teams was this: the entire number of entries plays off in a match of 72 holes. From this number the best eight men of each class are chosen for the final matches to decide the awarding of emblems.

These three eight-man teams then play approximately 144 holes. The members of the teams emerging with the lowest score are awarded intramural golf emblems.

The championship is usually captured by the senior team, as is shown in the records of past years. This is probably due to the fact that in a sport of this kind, experience, constant practice, and playing are the prime requisites for good team play. The seniors, of course, are a jump ahead of the juniors, having had a year's more practical experience.

The intramural tournament was in the hands of Mr. Ellis Carter, intramural sports coach for several years.

First Row—Warren, Evans, Riley, Finefrock, Houser, Hudec. Second Row—Rodgers, Miss Heinrichs, Miss Hobart, Miss Davis, Miss Coffman, Rohn.

GIRLS' BOOSTER CLUB

PENCIL selling contests to raise money, the sale of club distinctions in the form of felt megaphones, and stunts staged at games were some of the projects completed by the Girls' Booster club during 1932-1933. For the football stunt, a group of girls carried large white cards on which were painted the letters which spelled "HELLO ALLIANCE HELLO" and "GOOD LUCK McKINLEY." The girls went through a drill that brought these words into formation. For the basketball stunts, the girls were dressed in white and carried black canes with red bows and red and black pompoms.

The biggest thing on the club calendar for the year was the Booster party. It was a take-off on the International Olympics and was called "The Booster O-Limp-Hicks." The members were entertained by dancing, and during the intermission enjoyed some of the "O-Limp-Hick" games, such as "the standing broad grin," "the swimming race," and "the hurdle race."

Officers this year were: Margie Houser, president; Nancy Riley, vice-president; Eleanor Evans, secretary, and Nova Finefrock, treasurer. The senior cheer leaders were Suzanne Rohn and Margie Houser; the junior leaders, Kathryn Rodgers and Virginia Warner; the sophomores, Betty Hudec and Marie Stark.

The faculty advisors were Miss Coffman, Miss Hobart, Miss Davis, Miss Heinrichs, Miss Galbreath, Miss Motschman and Miss Wilson. Miss Sharff and Miss Lynn handled the gym work.

GIRLS' BOOSTER CLUB

Have you heard of the Booster club?

Mc Kinley's best, you know.

Just listen for us at the games,

We never rest, you know.

The Booster club is hard to beat;

We yell and cheer and stamp our feet.

Our team is always on our mind,

Regardless of the place or time.

We show the boys what pep can be,

And boost the team sky high.

When we are there, all shouting loud,

They're bound to do or die.

Give credit due to Miss Hobart;

In cheering she sure does her part.

Miss Davis gaily entertains;

Miss Motcshman's food can't give us pains.

*Miss Lynn is there with all the stunts;
They're very good indeed.
Miss Coffman makes a great head man,
I'm sure you are agreed.*

*The officers we can't forget;
They work so hard, and harder yet.
Marge Houser is our president,
She's always Better Booster bent.*

*A great big hand for Nancy R.
Our fine vice-president;
And three cheers more for Eleanor
Since we're on sentiment.*

*And Finney, Nova I should say,
Extracts from pockets hard earned pay.
And now let's finish with three cheers
For all the Booster girls, the dears.*

BOYS' BOOSTER CLUB

NINETEEN thirty two-thirty three has been a year in which members of the Boys' Booster club have proved themselves a loyal, active group. The organization included more than 100 members from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Officers for the year have been; Ned Overcashier, president; Richard Mellon, vice president; and Lincoln Shutt, secretary-treasurer. This group, working with Mr. Bartlett, the club advisor, planned an interesting and instructive program.

Because of the increased interest which members displayed towards football and basketball, reserved seats were provided for them both at Lehman stadium and at the auditorium. Their rooting section was one of the best that the club has had in years.

A number of interesting and educational trips were taken to increase the members' civic interests. One was a trip through the plant of the Republic Stamping and Enameling Company. Here the boys were given a complete view of the process of the making of enamelware, one of the city's outstanding products.

The sale of the McKinley Handbook, a publication which contains valuable information about the school and its activities, was a part of the work which the club has carried to a successful conclusion.

First Row—Ziff, Bast, Walker, Jackson, Carr, Davis, Hudec, Wildman, Keefe, Perdue, Hill, Reese, Janson, Biery, Croft. ART LEAGUE

ART League, one of the oldest clubs in McKinley, is active in creating an appreciation of art among all students. Not only art students, but also pupils whose schedules do not include art, are encouraged to join the club. Exhibitions of pictures and talks by artists are given to acquaint the members with modern art.

Early in the year an initiation was held; and later a number of interesting speakers appeared on the programs. Mr. Gilmore, a former McKinley art teacher, exhibited some of his paintings of beauty spots in Ohio, and told of the experiences he has had while painting them. He emphasized the fact that most beautiful spots and views are not to be found along the main highways, but off the beaten road among the hills. Miss Vogelgesang at a later meeting related her experiences while studying at the University of Paris. Mr. Max Holland exhibited some of his work and explained modern ideas of architecture, advertising, and package designs. Mr. Holland has been doing sculpturing of late and told of the modern trend in this field. The club was also addressed by Gordon Pryce who has recently opened an art school in Canton.

The social functions of the year were the annual Christmas party and the spring picnic.

The officers for the year were: Frank Soldatis, president; Janice Walker, secretary; and Earl Keyes, treasurer. The committee arranging the social activities consisted of Doris Wildman, Martha Megrew, Maxine Coleman, Sanford Wallock, Edward Fisher, and Betty Jacob.

BIOLOGY CLUB

BIOLOGY club is one of McKinley's largest organizations. Its members are devoted to the study of living things and interested in the world of biological survey. More than seventy-five biology students, for the most part sophomores, with a few juniors, comprised the 1932-33 membership. These students were all anxious to improve their knowledge of biology.

Like other "A" clubs, Biology group met once a month. Each meeting was featured by a program of interest. Dr. Pierce of Molly Stark sanatorium addressed the club members on "Tuberculosis, the Menace and Its Cure." The group made a trip to Dr. Shorb's x-ray parlor, which proved to be a fascinating, intensely interesting place to the students. Mr. Keenley of Wooster spoke on "Wild Flowers and Local Flora". Bob Rohn, a member of the club, conducted food experiments with rats, and explained them to the club. Lena Marletto, also a club member, told of her collection of insects.

Two social affairs were held. The club gave an informal party in the music room December 15, at which games and dancing provided the entertainment; and in May a picnic was held.

The officers for this year were Arthur Reisinger, president; Anna Packa, vice president; Robert Ressler, secretary; Jane Swan, treasurer; John Warren, sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Lanning acted as faculty chairman for the club, while the advisory staff included the other biology teachers, Mr. Swan, Mr. Wright, Mr. Riley, and Mr. Pratt.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

IN 1929 there was a new organization formed, known as the Chemistry club. Each year it has grown in popularity. This year it consisted of forty-two members. The club is an "A" club which requires the members to have an average of 85 or above in chemistry. Pupils who have had one year of chemistry are eligible. The purpose of the club is to create greater interest in scientific ideas.

The Chemistry club meetings were held the second Wednesday of each month. At one meeting a very interesting talk was given by Mr. Booher on "The Determination of Gas Viscosity." The apparatus used was constructed at Ohio State University. An alumnus of the club showed and explained the "arc-process" of obtaining nitrogen from the air.

This year the club members visited the Diebold Safe & Lock Company, Buckeye Oxygen Company, and the Allegheny-Arrow Gasoline Refining Company, all of which proved very interesting. Some of the club members and also some pupils of the chemistry classes were guests of Wooster College at the "Wooster Scientific Exhibition."

The club advisors were Mr. L. H. Booher and Mr. C. W. Fretz, chemistry instructors, who led and encouraged the students through their successful year.

The officers were: Fred Goshe, president; Carl Zimmerman, vice president; Elmer Staudt, secretary; Barnard Mills, Treasurer.

First Row—Sanford, Straub, Maggiore, Gruber, Albu. Second Row—Armogida, Ostrowsky, Genshaft, Souers. Third row—Johnston, Soldatis, Miss Willett, Beyoglides, Stine.

DEBATE TEAM

MCKINLEY High school's debate teams this year were faced with one of the most difficult and complex questions ever offered for inter scholastic debating: "Resolved that at least one half of all state and local revenues should be derived from sources other than tangible property." Facing this question as members of the debate team were: Emil Albu, Yasha Ostrowsky, Loren Souers, Karl Sanford, Louis Maggiore, and Helen Straub on the affirmative team; and Loren Souers, David Genshaft, Harry Armogida, Jane Gruber, and Lowell Stine on the negative. Miss Florence Willett of the English department coached the teams, and Mr. Otto Weedman, the faculty manager, directed the finances and conducted the library work. Mr. Weedman was assisted by the student managers, Lowell Stine and Frank Soldatis.

The affirmative, meeting opposition at every turn, defeated Oberlin and dropped hard-fought decisions to Wadsworth, Wooster, and Charleroi, Pennsylvania. The negative maintained an unblemished record, achieving victories over Jackson, Charleroi, Minerva, and Wooster. Both teams entered the state Forensic tournament held in Canton, early in April. Eligibility for the national tournament was determined at that time.

Most of the debaters are members of the National Forensic League, an honorary society for high school debaters. The Degree of Distinction is held by Miss Willett, Emil Albu, and Loren Souers. David Genshaft and Harry Armogida hold the Degree of Honor; and Jane Gruber and Karl Sanford have attained the Degree of Merit.

DEBATE CLUB

McKINLEY High's Debate club under the supervision of Miss Florence N. Willett, debate coach, consummated a season of forensic endeavor that materially benefited as well as entertained its members. The organization this year successfully carried out its purpose, which was to stimulate interest among students in debating and other forms of public speaking. The experience acquired in the club programs helped members to overcome timidity and self-consciousness and to create proficiency in the art of clear, rapid thinking and in forceful oral expression.

Classed as an "A" club, the organization held meetings monthly and conducted them according to parliamentary law. Membership in the Debate club was limited to students who maintained a high scholastic standard; and this year the membership totaled 56. Each of the members was given opportunity to perform at least once on the regular program, and once in the extempore class. Three of the programs this year were conducted by sophomore, junior, and senior classes, while the others were presented by mixed groups. To encourage regular habits, tardiness and unexcused absence called imposition of fines. The club backed the debate teams and financed all of the forensic activities of the school.

The officers during this year were: Emil Albu, president; Loren Souers, vice president; Frank Soldatis, secretary; Lowell Stine, treasurer; Louis Maggiore, censor; Virginia Saker and Marjorie Prince, reporters.

FRENCH CLUB

FOR the past several years Le Cercle Francais has been a favorite club with McKinley's French students. Its purpose is to provide pleasant experience in the use of practical French and to present a picture of the French people. The program of each meeting is planned to carry out this purpose. Members are all made familiar with "La Marseillaise" and the favorite melodies of France; and participate in one-act plays and monologues which are usually instructive as well as entertaining. Meetings are conducted with the use of as little English as possible to develop ease in speaking French.

Club membership is open to all third and fourth year students and to those second year students having an average of 85 during the previous year. This year, however, at the beginning of the second semester, membership was thrown open to those first year French students having an average of 90. This invitation added a large number to the original membership of 60.

The club gave a Mardi Gras dinner February 28, at the Y. W. C. A., celebrating that French festival. The guests wore French costumes or articles of dress symbolic of the Mardi Gras. Another social affair was the annual spring picnic.

The officers of Le Cercle Francais for the year 1932-33 were: Katherine Buda, president; Earl Keyes, vice president; Nick Sandru, secretary; Margaret Chmel, treasurer; and Sonya Ebert, historian.

All the French teachers act as advisors to the club. Miss Elizabeth Motschman is chairman of that group.

First Row—Kendell, Frey, Suter, Feightner, Whitacre, Gerrish, Johnston, Steiner, Blemker, Herley, Wadsworth, Keefe, Lautzenheiser, Ford, C. Perdue, Roshong, Perrott, Griffith, Gurriano. Fawcett, Hammon, Edie, Johannesen, Ungashick, Zerbe, Whipple, O' Shea, Nicholson.

FRIENDSHIP CLUB

YW. C. A. work with McKinley High school girls is carried on in the Friendship club. The theme for the club this year was "The High Road" and several meetings were planned on world fellowship, service, vocational guidance, health, and friendship to carry out this theme.

One meeting each month was given over to the committee and hobby groups; and in addition each group was represented in a program. Appropriate devotionals for each meeting were furnished by the inspiration group.

The traditionally inspiring recognition service for new Friendship club members was held in November at the Y. W. C. A. At this service the members pledged themselves to carry out the Girl Reserve code in their daily life.

The annual Faculty Tea, held to promote warmer friendship between teachers and girls, was given on February 14. The club sponsored two dances, one in early fall and the other in the spring.

Miss Cutchall, the Y. W. C. A. Girl Reserve secretary, was the club advisor. The officers for the year were: Janet Thomas, president; Ruth Blum, vice president; Grace Hughmanic, secretary; and Dorothy Steiner, treasurer.

First Row—Frye, Stucky, Brenison, Jamieson, Souers, Bergmeyer, Shipley, Maxwell, Deal, Huber, Holmes, K. Stone, Hildebrand, D. Stone, Sanford, Snyder, Clapper, Henderson, Tinkler, With, Pfoutz, Schumacher. SENIOR HI-Y

TO CREATE, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character is the purpose of the boys who belong to Hi-Y. At Christmas each chapter provided a basket of provisions to a needy family. The members also sold eskimo pies at the basketball games, and donated proceeds to a milk fund at school. Intra-chapter and individual contests spurred sales.

Dances, banquets, and outings filled the social bill. Each of the seasonal events, Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Valentine's Day called for a dance. The closing social event was the traditional Farewell dance for seniors. A Mother-Son banquet came in the fall; and a breakfast was held at Turkeyfoot lake, as usual, on the final school day. Athletics, in the form of a basketball league, were warmly supported.

In the previous spring, Emil Albu was elected club president, Rulo Fries, secretary; and James McCuskey, treasurer. Ward E. Young, C. T. Branin, Mr. Douglas Graeth, and Mahlon G. Barnes aided the club in the capacity of advisors.

A fourth chapter, Alpha Beta, was created this year, bringing membership to a record high. Sam Maxwell, David Morrow, Douglas Stone, and Loren Souers were presidents of Tau, Kappa, Phi, and Alpha Beta chapters respectively.

LEADERS' CLUB

NINETEEN thirty-three brought about many changes in the organization of the Leaders' club. The most pronounced of these was the pledge method of selecting new members. During the first semester all candidates receiving high grades in the club tryouts, consisting of apparatus performance and individual stunts, and having no failing grades in academic subjects, were considered as pledge members of the club. These prospective members were then subjected to a unique and unusual initiation. Toward the end of the semester the standing of each of these girls as to citizenship, scholarship, character, and athletics was carefully considered.

It is understood upon entrance into the club that a member will be required to maintain, at all times, at least 85 in gymnasium or swimming work, passing grades in all academic subjects, and the character of a true Leader. It is also compulsory that she be able to teach a gymnasium or swimming class whenever called upon, and that she assist individually those having difficulty in their work.

The social activities for the year consisted of a weiner roast at High Mill Park, a Christmas dance at the Hotel Northern, a spring dance, and a skating party. The Leaders' club also took an active part in the gym exhibition in April.

The officers were: Suzanne Rohn, president; Helen Straub, vice president; Beatrice Keyes, secretary; and Lois McFarland, treasurer. The faculty advisors were Miss Lynn and Miss Sharff.

LATIN CLUB

“COMITES Latinae,” the McKinley High Latin club, has enjoyed its second successful year. This club has an “A” ranking; and those students who have taken two years of Latin and have an average of 85 are eligible for membership. The purpose of the club is to aid the members in the study of Roman life and the Latin language.

The meetings, which were held once a month, were entertaining and helpful. Latin songs, games, conundrums, and rhymes were used on the various programs. At one meeting Miss Coffman’s Latin classes presented an interesting play, and at another Ralph Shipley gave “The Lay of Ancient Rome.”

At several meetings members of the club gave talks on Roman customs and Roman life. Every effort was made to make the programs beneficial in the study of Latin in the classrooms as well as entertaining in the club meeting. Members answered to the roll call at each meeting with the Latin word, “Adsum,” meaning, “I am present.”

Social activities on different occasions throughout the year balanced the serious side of the club.

Miss McConnell was the faculty advisor and the officers of the club for the past year were: James Gibbs, president; Dorothy Carringer, vice president; Elizabeth Blemker, secretary; James McCuskey, treasurer; and Virginia Hay, reporter.

MODERN WRITERS' CLUB

MODERN Writers' club was originated for those interested in the study of modern authors and their works. The members are encouraged to read good present-day novels. The pupils belonging to this club must have an average of 85 in English and passing grades in all other subjects. This is an "A" club and like others of the same class meets once a month.

The authors discussed this year were: Hilda Doolittle, Harold MacGrath, Pearl Buck, Richard Haliburton, Sara Teasdale, Frank Norris, Booth Tarkington, John Galsworthy, Fanny Hurst, Sinclair Lewis, and Eugene O'Neill. Biographies and reviews of their works were given in connection with these writers. A different chairman was appointed to be in charge of each meeting. This chairman arranged the program for that particular meeting. The following were chairmen for this year: Betty Bean, Dorothy Steiner, Jean Robinson, Margaret Winchell, Rebecca Evans, Corinne Boles, Betty Lou Wilson, Doris Henninger, and Catherine Cummins.

The social activity of the year was a dance given at the Woman's club on January 28. The committee in charge of this affair consisted of: Florence Jacobsen, chairman; Ruth Simon, and Vera Roshong. This dance was open to students outside of the club also.

The officers for this year were: Sybil Emerman, president; Andrew Canterbury, vice president; Mary Jackson, secretary; and Bob Oscar, treasurer. The advisors of the club were Miss Grace Long, Miss Mary Eddy, and Miss Esther Thompson.

GIRLS' SERVICE LEAGUE

TO recognize high scholarship and character, and to strive to put others first is the purpose of the Girls' Service League, a club for senior girls. At the end of each school year the members elect junior girls having an average of ninety or above for the three years of high school. These girls constitute the club during the following year.

At the same time that the new members were taken into this year's club, they were given the names of all incoming sophomore girls for whom they were to serve as "big sisters." Then at some time during the summer each "big sister" got in touch with her "little sister" and acquainted her with McKinley.

During the first week of school, Service League members served as hall guides, directing sophomores to their classes.

At Thanksgiving and Christmas, food, clothing, and toys were collected and given to a number of needy families. Lunches were donated to worthy girls all through the year.

Meetings were held once a month. Among the most interesting programs were the Christmas program, and the one on colleges, at which several of the teachers spoke of the schools they attended. Three parties were given, one for the ladies in the Aultman Home for aged women, another joint one with the Friendship club, and the other in honor of the new members.

Miss Davis was the advisor. The officers were: Suzanne Rohn, president, Nova Finefrock, vice president, Jane Foltz, secretary, and Jean Carle, treasurer.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

THE Social Science club of McKinley High school was organized several years ago as an "A" club. Its purpose is to interest high school students in the events past and present which contribute to the development of the current social conditions. The faculty advisors of the club are Miss Lehmillier, Miss Marburger, Miss Bess Thompson, Mr. Barnes, and Mr. Koehler.

This club is counted upon to sponsor the annual assemblies for Armistice day. This year Mr. James Aiken spoke to the sophomores, Mr. Ward Young to the juniors, and Mr. John Porter to the seniors. These speakers all saw active service in the World War and gave their ideas of the evils of war. Violin selections were played by Helen Louis Schmidt and Hugh Grable and the McKinley High school orchestra played a medley of oversea selections.

There were two special meetings during the year. At one a play was presented by two students of Lehman junior high school. Mr Phillip Anastos, director of the foreign department of the Dime Savings bank, spoke at the other on "American Education in the Near East".

Three social events, two dances and a spring outing, were held during the year. The annual Christmas dance took place Wednesday, December 21, at the Canton Women's club.

Officers for the year 1932-33 were Margaret Geltz, president; Roy Hoke, vice president; George Gerber, secretary; Doris Wildman, treasurer; and Mary Jane Pratt, publicity secretary.

SOPHOMORE Dramatic club enjoyed another successful year under the leadership of Miss Hill. The purpose of this club has always been to prepare sophomore students for the junior class play and to provide entertainment at the sophomore parties. The members are chosen by the method of eliminative tryouts.

"Not Quite Such a Goose", a modern comedy directed by Miss Hill, and "Paradise", a melodrama directed by Miss Wilson were presented at the first sophomore party. Those taking part in the first play were Margaret Carr, Dean Howell, Eleanor Shoup, Jack Masters, and Betty Mizer. Jack Klein, Vivienne Wallick, Leslie Arnold, and Paul Zeller played in "Paradise".

Short plays and dramatizations such as "Be a Little Cuckoo", "When Love is Young", and "Big Business", were presented at the monthly meetings. The casts for these plays were chosen from voluntary committees. Jack Klein, Carolyn Rogers, and Paul Zeller acted as chairmen of these groups. Extemporaneous plays were given at various times throughout the year. Appreciation for good drama was encouraged along with practice in acting. At some of the meetings the members discussed ease of motion on the stage and studied the art of make-up.

There were twenty-four members; and the officers were : Martha Keefe, president; Jack Klein, vice president; Betty Mizer, secretary; and Evelyn Breting, treasurer.

The faculty advisors were Miss Hill, Mr. Chenot, Miss Coffman, Miss Galbreath, Miss Jones, and Miss Wilson.

First Row—Wolforth, Carle, Walker, Emerman, Mees, Herley, Richards. Second Row—Morrow, Finefrock, Taylor, Bruening, Gray, Ebert, Miss Marble. Third Row—Kelly, Ballard, Duerr, Trout, Maxwell, Meyer Eakin.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

SHAKESPEARE club was organized in 1916, and is one of the school's most popular organizations. It is composed of seniors who are interested in dramatics. An average of 85 or above in English must be maintained for membership. The club tries to encourage an appreciation of both classic and modern drama, and to provide desired practice in acting.

The meetings were held once a month; and all programs were prepared by the members. Every person was given the opportunity of appearing in at least one program during the year. An informal initiation was held in the music room in January. Fifteen members were received into the club at this time. Later in the semester more students were admitted.

The Shakespeare club endeavored to provide entertainment for all of the senior parties. At the senior Valentine party, Pinero's "The Play-goers" was given by the following cast: Miriam Herley, Robert Meyer, Elmer Eakin, Nova Finefrock, Margaret Wolforth, Amy Mees, Jane Richards and Bertha Emerman. In December several members presented the play "God Winks" at a teachers' meeting which was held at the Woman's club. The final social event of the club was a picnic at the close of the school year.

The officers for the year were: Miriam Herley, president; Amy Mees, secretary, and Fred Duerr, treasurer. Miss Marble was the faculty advisor.

First Row—Jacobs, Merriman, Roshong, Staudt, Schmeltzer, Miller, Hawk. Second Row—Welch, Freedman, Gay, Stasko, Kline, Waisbrot, Third Row—Ritz, Gschwend, Reukauf, Storia, Mr. Leist.

STAMP CLUB

THIS year was the first of the existence of the McKinley High Stamp club. It was organized by John Ritz and Donald Gay for all students interested in stamps and was open to pupils maintaining an average of 70. The Stamp club has a "B" rating. Its purpose is to create greater interest in stamps among McKinley High school students, to view stamp collections, to discuss the stories portrayed on stamps, and to aid the amateur collector.

The meetings, which were held once a month, were informal. Since this was the first year of the club, a constitution was adopted. At several meetings there were speakers who displayed their stamp collections and told some of their experiences with stamps. John Ritz showed the members his stamp and post card collections. Mr. Leist displayed his collection also. Donald Gay exhibited a map of the United States which he made entirely out of stamps. No neighboring states were made of stamps of the same color. The club showed great interest in this project which required skill in the making. At extra meetings the members played a game, "Stampo", and received prizes of stamps. An auction, at which stamps were sold to the highest bidder, was held at another meeting.

Mr. Leist and Miss McBane were the club advisors. Officers of the Stamp club for this year were: John Ritz, president; Donald Gay, vice president; Vera Roshong, secretary; and Edna Schmeltzer, treasurer.

STAGECRAFT CLUB

STAGECRAFT club is an organization consisting of 18 McKinley boys. Its purpose is to construct and shift scenery and to produce the proper lighting effects for all dramatic productions sponsored by the school. These functions are essential to a successful production. Each year there are nine seniors, seven juniors, and two sophomores who are privileged to be members of the club.

The first production for which the Stagecraft club made sets was "Minick", a modern comedy presented by the senior class. This play required only one set. The next task of the club was to do the stage work for the senior opera, "Martha". Four different sets were made for the opera, each requiring accurate work. The last and the most difficult settings ever attempted by any Stagecraft club were those made for the junior class play, "The House Beautiful." It was necessary to construct two stage levels and to arrange unusual lighting effects for this production. Other work done by the club consisted of putting up sets for class play try outs, class parties, and several minor plays.

The officers for the year 1932-33 were: Lauren Hexamer, president; George Figley, vice president; Richard Palmer, secretary-treasurer; Dale Cramer, chief electrician; and Lewis Skelton, assistant electrician. Miss Martha Bozman was the faculty advisor and directed all the work.

BUSINESS STAFF

SUPPORT given by the student body as a whole, along with splendid co-operation by the staff members, made 1932-33 a successful year for the business staff. Last year the annual received a twenty-five point bonus for its excellent financial standing, a record which the present staff tried to uphold. The work of financing the Times and the McKinleyite this year was harder than usual because many business concerns were unable to advertise as in previous years. The advertising group worked long and hard for the excellent results they got.

The subscription department put on extensive campaigns for both publications. During the year there were sixteen issues of the Times; and the copies were distributed to the home rooms by the members of the circulation department.

The business staff this year was composed of: Harry Rennecker, business manager; Virginia Shaw, circulation manager; Eloise Denton, business secretary; and Elizabeth Oeffinger, advertising manager. Polly Shea, Jean Huesmann, and Robert Hildebrandt were the seniors who assisted in the business office.

The juniors who helped this year and who will serve as a nucleus for the staff next year were: Margaret Jacobs, assistant business secretary; and Howard Summers, John Grinnan, Burton Cohen, and Andrew Canterbury, who worked in the advertising department.

Mr. Leist, the faculty advisor, directed and cooperated with the business staff in every way.

EDITORIAL STAFFS

UNDER the guidance of their faculty advisor, Miss Marguerite Bair, the Times and Annual editorial staffs have successfully carried out the publication work of the year. The Times, a bi-weekly newspaper, in its third year of existence presented the students with all school news. There were sixteen issues, each of which carried a number of pictures and cartoons.

The members of the Times staff were as follows: Jane Fawcett, editor-in-chief; Marian Frey, editorial page; Daun Shoemaker, editorials; Virginia Hanna and Francis Kessler, sports; John Ritz, clubs; Dorothy Wadsworth, assemblies; Barbara Fawcett, music and debate; Robert Cottrell, art; George Wesp, William Sikora, Donald Gay, and Al Huber, general news; and Martha Megrew, Bernice Harold, and Elizabeth Heaton, typists.

The aim of the 1933 McKinleyite was to receive high honor rating in national competition. The staff labored hard and long on this project. Work began with the opening of school. The use of ivory paper and silver ink were part of the plan to make this the greatest annual ever published by a McKinley High school staff. The splendid co-operation of staff members enabled them to finish the book in record time.

The following students made up the Annual staff: Franklin Dannemiller, editor-in-chief; Betty Barnes, senior section; Janet Thomas, organizations and features; Ann Pratt and Tom Bartel, athletic section; Frank Kwett, photography; Wilson Frye, assistant photographer; Marjorie Prince and Fred Zaugg, art; and Florence Smith, typing.

QUILL AND SCROLL

QUILL and Scroll is an International Honor society for high school journalists. The first chapter of this honor society in McKinley was organized in 1928. The Quill and Scroll receives members who are in the upper third of their class scholastic standing during the current year, who do acceptable work in the field of journalism, and are approved by the advisor. Members of the publication staffs are eligible if they meet these requirements. It has been only during the past few years that Quill and Scroll has become an international society. Chapters are located in nearly every state in the Union and have been begun in several foreign countries. The high schools which have chapters of Quill and Scroll are only those with an excellent standing in journalism.

Four present members of the Quill and Scroll were taken into the organization during their junior year. These members are: Betty Barnes, Virginia Shaw, Franklin Dannemiller, and Jane Fawcett. A new club to promote journalism was organized this year by these four members. In this way the standing of McKinley's chapter of Quill and Scroll was raised.

The members of the chapter include: Robert Cottrell, Eloise Denton, Barbara Fawcett, Marian Frey, Donald Gay, Al Huber, Francis Kessler, Frank Kwett, Elizabeth Oeffinger, Marjorie Prince, John Ritz, Daun Shoemaker, William Sikora, Janet Thomas, Dorothy Wadsworth, George Wesp, and Fred Zaugg. Miss Bair was the club advisor.

First Row—Stone, Shaw, Gay, Frey, Huber, Huesman, Wesp, James, D'Aurora, Greenham. Second Row—Dannemiller, Hawks, Yellin, Wadsworth, Shoemaker, Miller, Copthorne, Coleman, Swan, O'Shea, W. Swan. Third Row—Niarchos, Cottrell, Koller, Rogers, Barnes, Ritz, Bowen, Heingartner, Vail, Frye. Fourth Row—Kwett, Kessler, Hanna, B. Fawcett, Miss Bair, Hommon, J. Fawcett, Goodman, McCue, Kandell, Holmes, Lover.

PRESS CLUB

ORGANIZED only during the last year, the Press club has already earned a place for itself among the prominent organizations of McKinley. This club was begun for those students interested in publications of various sorts and desirous of becoming better acquainted with the lives of journalists and the work they do.

Many interesting and entertaining programs were held. A film of the complete process of publishing the New York Times was shown at one meeting. Robert Marriot, a member of the editorial staff of the Repository, was one of the speakers heard by the club. The group enjoyed a visit to the Northern Engraving Company, where they were shown the entire operation of engraving pictures. Contests were held and the results sent to a national contest of the Quill and Scroll. Several members of the club received honorable mention from the sponsors of the contest.

The membership of the organization was limited to fifty members of the junior and senior classes. This plan eliminated all those who did not have a real desire to belong to the club.

The officers were Franklin Dannemiller, president; Virginia Shaw, vice president; Jane Fawcett, secretary; and Betty Barnes, treasurer. Miss Bair was the faculty advisor.

TRAVEL CLUB

TO experience imaginative travels to far-away lands is the purpose of the Travel club. Under the guidance of Mr. C. W. Fretz, the faculty advisor for the club, members gather to hear verbal descriptions and to see moving pictures of the places they hope some day to visit. Members are encouraged to read extensively on travel and to broaden their knowledge of foreign lands as much as possible.

The Travel club is rated as a "B" club. Students who have passing grades in all subjects are eligible for membership. The officers for 1932-33 were: Frank Kwett, president; Loren Souers, vice president; Harold Weaver, secretary; and Dorothy Steiner, treasurer.

At the first meeting Mr. Russell Fifer showed the motion pictures which he took on his "trek" through the jungles of Borneo. He also exhibited a number of curious Bornean articles. At another meeting, pictures of travel in France were shown. From France the club traveled to Russia where Yasha Ostrowsky, a pupil at McKinley, told of his experiences as a student in a Russian school. Another imaginative trip abroad was taken by means of a motion picture which told the story of an American student trying to improve his French by making direct contact with the natives of France.

In the spring the "travelers" held a dance, which was attended by both regular members and the guests from other clubs.

SENIOR PLAY

“MINICK,” a three act comedy characterization by George Kaufman and Edna Ferber, was presented by the senior class on December 9 and 10, as the annual senior class play. Miss Iris Haverstack directed the production. The play tells the story of an old man’s attempt to adjust himself to the living conditions of the present generation in a large city.

The old man, Father Minick, goes to live with his son and daughter-in-law, Fred and Nettie Minick. The young couple and their friends, the Diamonds and the Coreys, find their good times cooled by the presence of Father Minick. He is pathetically ignorant of modern social life. He believes in the old maxim, “early to bed, early to rise”, and upsets the household routine to such an extent that the maid, Annie, leaves rather than work under these unpleasant conditions.

The old gentleman further disturbs his son’s wife when he invites two of his friends, Mr. Dietenhofer and Mr. Price, to spend their afternoons with him. All is well until the day when Nettie finds that the old man appropriated her living room and messed it up with golashes and cigar ashes. Her new maid, Lula, an easy-going colored girl, had only recently put it in order. Price suggests that “maybe she wants us to go” and the two men go off insulted.

Nettie then prepares for the arrival of her club members, Mrs. Smallridge, Miss Crackenwald, Mrs. Lippincott, and Miss Stack. Father Minick contests a statement of one of the club women and breaks up the meeting.

Nettie later discovers that Fred has entered a business she disapproves, and, in a quarrel with him, decides to leave him if Father Minick continues to stay and embarrass her. However when the young couple realize that the old man will go rather than make them unhappy, they combine their efforts and persuade him to stay.

Father Minick, however, sees the futility of keeping two generations under one roof, and goes to an old men's "home" to spend his days in arguing politics with Dietenhofer and Price.

The many amusing situations and the pathetic mistakes of old Father Minick make an interesting comedy.

The characters were: Frank Miller as Father Minick, Janet Thomas as Nettie Minick, Robert Meyer as Fred Minick, Mary Jamison as Lil Corey, Dick Rastetter as Jim Corey, Al Huber as Al Diamond, Miriam Herley as Marge Diamond, Beatrice Steiner as Annie the maid, and Bertha Emerman as Lula. Franklin Dannemiller and Kenneth Sell portrayed the old men, Deitenhofer and Price.

Among the club women, Doris Casper played as Mrs. Smallridge, Helen Morrow as Miss Crackenwald, Alice Ann James as Mrs. Lippincott, and Jane Richards as Miss Stack.

Understudies were: Ruth Blum, John Cottrell, Wilda Freeman, Elvan Kintner, Jeanne Krammes, Sam Maxwell, and James Seckler.

Miss Martha Bozman and the Stagecraft club constructed the stage settings, and the school orchestra, under the direction of Ellmore Miller, played between acts. Paul Barkley, chairman of the senior guardians, was business manager.

SENIOR OPERA

“MARTHA”, a five act opera by Von Flotow, was presented on February 3, and 4, by the senior music department. “Martha” tells of England during the reign of Queen Anne. Lady Harriet, a maid of honor, to the queen, tires of court life, assumes the name of Martha, takes her friend, Nancy, and runs away to the Richmond fair. Two wealthy farmers buy the girls as servants, and promptly fall in love with them. The girls flee and the farmers, Lionel and Plunket, search everywhere, finally to find them in their court splendor.

Nancy and Punket are reconciled immediately, while Martha dresses once again as a peasant and sings the song Lionel loves. He tells her of his love and the two are happily united.

All productions in the past were operettas, this being the first real opera attempted. The famed song, “The Last Rose of Summer”, came from this show, along with many other haunting tunes.

Two separate casts staged the production. The characters were: Lady Harriet, Pauline Becker and Elinor Koller; Nancy, Maxine Cover and Janet Davis; Sir Tristan, Hugh Sensibaugh and Dwayne Haynes; Lionel, William Cover and Eugene Batza; Plunket, Richard Rastetter and Yasha Ostrowsky; the sheriff, Robert Stertzbach and Howard Lover. Members of the Choral club played as farmers, servants, court ladies, and huntresses.

Leslie D. Hanson directed the music and Miss Florence Hill the dramatics. Stagecrafters under Miss Bozman constructed the scenery.

First Row—Davis, Straub, Bechtel, Hardesty, Blum, Trinnies, Scribner, Mr. Hanson, Niederhauser, Shurtz, Hoff, Thebom, Hall, Koehl, Senior. Second Row—Wildman, Huesmann, Elsaesser, McGill, Campbell, Walker, Walters, Mees, Lefkowitz, Farnham, Markham, Beachy, Stuchel, Cover, Frey, Crum, Littell. CHORAL CLUB

CHORAL club again featured as its outstanding work the annual senior opera. This year the difficult opera, "Martha" by Von Flotow was chosen to be presented. Mr. Hanson, the director, picks the senior Choral club by try-outs. One hundred sixteen members were selected to compose the organization this year. This year McKinley was the host of the northeastern Ohio choral societies.

At informal engagements the club entertained its audiences with religious selections, spirituals, serenades, and ballads, dating from the sixteenth century to the present day. Such countries as Russia, Italy, France, Germany, Spain, England and Czechoslovakia were represented in the compositions which the club chose. Many were sung in the native language without piano accompaniment. Musical productions of Mozart, Beethoven, Brahms, Bach, Williams, and Clachy were interpreted.

The first appearance of the members was made before the Kiwanis club at the Courtland Hotel. Later programs were given before the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A., and the Sorosis at the Women's club. In February Choral club members sang for the President McKinley Memorial service at the First Methodist church.

ORCHESTRA

UNDER the direction of Mr. Ellmore Miller, the McKinley Symphony orchestra has accomplished many orchestral works in true artistic style. The direction of such an organization is a real task as some of the students have had no orchestra training and must grow accustomed to playing with other musicians. This year it was one of the largest and finest orchestras in the history of the music department.

The group was organized shortly after the beginning of the school term and met three days a week. Special groups were chosen to play for special assemblies and for the junior and senior class plays. The orchestra also played for the senior opera, "Martha", which represented one of the most difficult types of music.

During the year the symphonic group, which numbered seventy pieces, gave two concerts, one at the Lehman High school auditorium on Friday, March 3, and the other at McKinley auditorium on May 5. Many famous compositions were included on the program, a few of which were, "Country Dance" by Beethoven, "Stradella Overture" Von Flotow, "Symphony in E Minor" from "The New World Symphony" of Dvorak, "Two Waltzes" of Brahms, "Ballet Egyptian" Lugini, and the well known "Mozart Suite." At each concert a member of the orchestra was the featured soloist.

The last meeting of the entire group was at the commencement exercises. There the orchestra in conjunction with the Choral club gave a concert.

BAND

ONE organization which the students can always rely on is the McKinley band. At football and basketball games the student musicians with their smart red and black uniforms are always ready to cheer the teams on with "Stand Up and Cheer" or "Fight on McKinley." This latter song the band director, Mr. Ellmore Miller, composed this year exclusively for McKinley.

Tryouts were used to determine eligibility to play in the "A" band. Members were chosen entirely on a basis of musical ability.

All through the football and basketball seasons the band played at all home games and at several out-of-town games. Members worked many hours on the letter formations which were made at the games. On Armistice day the organization marched in the city Armistice day parade. On March 12, this band was honored by being guest band to nine other bands in a competitive concert given by the American Legion Band.

The annual spring musical concert, usually held in the school auditorium, was given in the city auditorium this year. The band took part in this concert, and plans were made to send the musicians to Medina.

Among the selections the band played were included: Overture to Rienzi, Mlle. Modiste from the comic opera by Victor Herbert, First Norwegian Rhapsody, Fest Overture in C. Herod Overture, and Orpheus in der Unterwelt.

First Row—Blemker, Nyman, Herbst, Ritzman, Steiner. Second Row—Canterbury, Dunbar, Gerber, Strauch. Third Row—Phelps, Hammond.

JUNIOR PLAY

CHANNING Pollock's "The House Beautiful" was presented by the class of 1934 on March 31 and April 1. The class was one of the first amateur groups to present this play. Not only were the character roles difficult to portray, but the lighting effects and construction changes were projected with great precision. The play was made an unusual success through the efforts of the cast under the direction of Miss Iris Haverstack, and the boys in the Stagecraft club supervised by Miss Martha Bozman.

The plot of "The House Beautiful" concerns the lives of several people in a New Jersey suburb. Jennifer Davis, the appealing heroine, lives idealistically in a world of dreams. Her husband, Archie, is a struggling bond salesman, undistinguished by anything but his love for Jen. The young couple buy a house in a new real estate development in spite of the opposition of Guy Stayton, a rising but disagreeable young man in the office where Archie works. Jen and Archie found their home on sacrifice, love, and honesty, always striving to keep "the house beautiful". Their simple happiness is a contrast to the lives of their neighbors, Bert and Nina Baxter. Bert is a self-confident real estate salesman and his wife, Nina, is a hard woman, seeking pleasure everywhere but at home. The Baxters raise their daughter, Vivian, to live a restless, life while Jennifer and Archie teach their son, Richard, to live as nobly as a knight of old and to be satisfied with simple things.

As the years go by many milestones mark the lives of the Davis'. Richard suffers injuries in an automobile accident but is brought back to health by Dr. Brink, a kind physician and a guiding influence in Jennifer's life; Vivian and Richard marry just as Archie is preparing to send Richard to college; and Archie is elected mayor of the town.

In the meantime Guy Stayton has become head of the business while Archie has advanced but little. When Archie is elected mayor he offers opposition to an unfair zoning plan. Guy, angered by the failure of his schemes, dismisses Archie from the firm. The blow is a great one, and Archie never recovers. After his death, Jennifer carries on the work of keeping "the house beautiful" and helping her son to be a successful man, until she knows she is no longer needed on earth and goes to meet Archie in the hereafter.

The characters were: Jennifer, Genevieve Nyman; Archie, George Phelps; Guy Stayton, George Gerber; Bert, Andrew Canterbury; Nina, Elizabeth Blemker; Martha Wiley, Louise Ritzman; Dr. Brink, Russell Hammond; Sam Dreyer, Jack Dunbar; Hulda, the maid, Betty Herbst; Vivian, Donna Cramer; Richard, aged ten, Dorothy Steiner; and Richard, as a young man, James Strauch.

Understudies included: Grace Burdge, Roger Sandman, George Purece, Robert Dryden, Mary Jo Haynam, Carolyn Fretz, Robert Cordray, Nancy Riley, Ruth Lytle, Wilma Young, and Daniel Ray.

Mr. Lloyd Swan was the business manager.

SENIOR COMMITTEES

TO manage all the social activities of the senior class, including the three class parties and the activities of commencement week, was the work of the senior committees. These committees made the decorations, arranged the programs, and took care of the music and refreshments for all the social affairs. One of the class guardians supervised each committee.

The first social event, held in November, was an "election" party and the music room was decorated with campaign posters and banners. The next party given in February carried out the spirit of St. Valentine's day with appropriate decorations of hearts. The last party was held in April and spring colors were used in the decorations. A program by the students and dancing were the features of each party.

The members of the program committee were not permanent but were changed to fit the needs of each particular social function. Miss Bock directed this committee and Janice Walker was the chairman.

The decorating committee of the class of '33 served all through the sophomore, junior, and senior years, and in the junior year provided decorations for the junior-senior reception. Miss Davis had charge of the committee which was composed of Margaret Wolforth, Al Huber, Beatrice Steiner, Barbara Senior, Robert Holmes, Jane Reeder, Tom Kelly, Maxine Cover, Rulo Fries, Glenn Kettering, Robert Hildebrandt, and Marguerite Livingston.

SENIOR COUNCIL

EACH classroom is represented in the senior council by a councilman, and these representatives make the senior council one of the most active groups in the school. A councilman and an alternate were chosen early in the school year, the alternate to serve in case of the absence of the councilman. The council tried to meet at least once a week. The home rooms were kept posted with the affairs of the senior class, since it was the duty of the councilmen to report the thoughts and feelings of the council.

All senior activities were the undertakings of the council, the election of the class officers, the collection of class dues, the sale of the class play tickets, the choice and purchase of the commencement announcements, and the selection of the class gift. The plans and the arrangements for the parties which were held in November, February, and April, were under the supervision of the council.

Mr. Paul Barkley was chairman of the class guardians, who were: Miss Potter, Miss Bock, Miss Davis, Mr. Pratt, Miss Flora Schneider, Miss Leah Stonehill, Miss Keller, Miss Long, Mr. Parker, Miss Shelton, Miss Fravel, and Mr. S. P. Smith. The class officers were: Emil Albu, president; Ralph Shipley, vice president; Suzanne Rohn, secretary; and Franklin Dannemiller, treasurer. They were present at all of the council meetings and were helpful to the council in making plans for the senior class.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

JUNIOR council is one of the most active, progressive organizations of McKinley High school. It serves to weld the large junior class into a closely knit, well-functioning unit. In October each home room elected a councilman and an alternate. After council meeting, each councilman reported to his home room what business had been transacted and what decisions had been reached. Each councilman sounded out his classmates and found their attitude toward different questions. The results of these inquiries were related at council meetings. In this way the junior council was a really representative group, voicing the opinion of the large student body.

The council efficiently carried out its various duties. Councilmen collected class dues and planned the two junior social gatherings, a Christmas party, and a February frolic. From a social standpoint, the annual junior-senior reception was the crowning achievement. Junior council cooperated with the senior council and different committees to make this affair a great success. The council also launched an extensive advertising campaign for the junior class play, "House Beautiful". The council members aided in the election of the class officers who were: Jack Dunbar, president; Louise Ritzman, vice president; Beatrice Keyes, secretary; and John Clasper, treasurer.

Mr. Swan was chairman of the guardians, and a member of the credential committee, along with Mr. Bartlett, Mr. Baker, Miss Vogelsang, Miss Bowman, and Miss Wilson. Miss Ruff was in charge of decorations; Mr. Angove, finance; Miss Hill, entertainment; and Miss Mason, refreshments.

SOPHOMORE council is one of the most important organizations of the sophomore class. It is a representative body of the class, taking the burden of sophomore activities upon its shoulders. At the beginning of the year, when the council was formed, a councilman and an alternate were chosen from each home room section to represent that room at the council meetings. At the close of each meeting the councilman reported the actions of the council to his home room.

The council members supervised the election of the sophomore class officers who were: Bob Daniels, president; Margaret Both, vice president; Betty Mizer, secretary; and George Lloyd, treasurer. After their election these officers cooperated with the council in undertaking all of the class projects. The council also took charge of the collection of class dues.

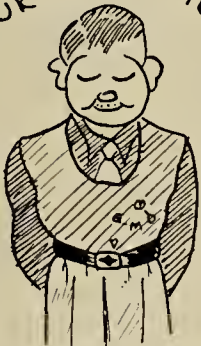

The council planned and made arrangements for the two sophomore parties. The first was held in January. The Sophomore Dramatic club gave a program and there was dancing in the music room. The second dance, on May 6, was a spring party with appropriate decorations.

Mr. Riley, chairman of the sophomore guardians, directed the work of the council. The class guardians were: Miss Broda, Mr. Carter, Miss Erdman, Mr. Ford, Mr. Fry, Mr. Gowdy, Mr. Littell, Miss Marburger, Mr. Peabody, Miss Rice, Miss C. Schneider, Mr. C. C. Smith, and Mr. Wright.

LEHMAN SOPHOMORES

DUE to the size of the class of 1935 which was larger this year than ever before in the history of the school, it was necessary to add a sophomore class to the enrollment of Lehman junior high school. This class was composed of students who successfully completed their freshman year at Lehman and who would ordinarily have come to McKinley.

Special clubs and activities were originated for these pupils so that they might enjoy the privileges afforded sophomores at McKinley. Dramatics, Travel, French, Social Science, Writers', Biology, and Latin clubs were formed, and all sophomores were urged to join some organization. A member of the Lehman faculty acted as advisor for each club.

Y. W. C. A. work with girls of the sophomore class was carried on through the Girl Reserve organization, and the sophomore Hi-Y club for boys took care of Y. M. C. A. work at Lehman. This year both of these organizations cooperated with the Friendship club and the Hi-Y of McKinley in working out their plans.

The sophomores held their own assemblies with special student programs, and every effort was made to have the activities and goals of the class coincide with those of the McKinley sophomores. New teachers were added to the Lehman faculty to provide all the selections of subjects and curricular advantages for the members of the class of 1935 at Lehman which their senior high school classmates now have at McKinley.

● MAKES DISHES

A teaspoon of Climalene

added to your dishwasher

GLEAM and SPARKLE

makes your dishes gleam

and sparkle like new.

Here's new ease, new economy in dishwashing. A new way to make your dishes gleam and sparkle just like new. ● Add a teaspoon of Climalene to your dishwasher. It softens hard water ... but more than that ... it gives water the power to dissolve grease. Thus you do your dishes in soft, lasting suds, with $\frac{1}{4}$ the soap ... in $\frac{1}{2}$ the time. And your hands stay soft and white. ● Get Climalene from your grocer today. Try it in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom. It's in a bright, shiny, blue box in two sizes 12 oz. for 10c and 2 lbs. for 25c. The Climalene Company, Canton, Ohio Z-16

The ARCADE MARKET

Canton's Finest Food Market

The HOOVER HEDLITE—exclusive new feature in electric cleaners. Electric light mounted on The Hoover illuminates dark corners—makes cleaning easier and better.

The HOOVER

*It Beats . . . as it Sweeps . . . as it Cleans
... on a Cushion of Air*

Of no other Cleaner can this be said

MORE homes—mansions or cottages are cleaned by Hoovers than by any other cleaner . . . The Hoover is made by the oldest electric cleaner manufacturer and the largest. More than 3,000,000 Hoovers have been sold . . . The Hoover is unique due to its exclusive patented cleaning principle, Positive Agitation. By virtually shaking the rug, The Hoover dislodges even the most deeply embedded grit so injurious to rugs, and removes it along with all lint, hair, litter and dust . . . The Hoover may be bought on as low a down payment and with as small an outlay per month as the cheapest machine, yet gives many more years of cleaning service . . . The Hoover is sold and endorsed by the leading merchants of the country . . . When their bonded and trustworthy representative calls on you, ask him for a no-obligation home trial. The Hoover Company—North Canton, Ohio.
